Alsab Finds Turn In Lane In Derby Rough Passage; Takes Turn In Preakness

It took a long while for Alsab to click as a 3-year-old but when he did so it was with a bang!

His victory in the Preakness last Saturday was worthy of his 2-year-old reputation, when he closed the season with that of being one of the best things of his age, if not the very best, ever seen in America.

Out of 22 starts he won 15, was three times 2nd, once 3rd and once unplaced. This was the largest number of wins credited to any horse of any age in 1941. Next to him stood the 3-year-old champion Whirlaway, winner of 13 out of 20 starts.

Alsab created a furor, for he was unbeaten through his last 10 starts. His consistency was matched by his speed and courage, while his stamina was of equal merit.

Carrying 122 lbs. he ran a full mile in 1:35 2-5—the fastest race at that distance run by any horse, of any age, in 1941. In his match against Requested he ran 6 1-2 furlongs in 1:16, also under 122 lbs. In his last two starts he won at 1 1-16 miles, once carrying 124 lbs.

Dazzling performances like these made him the hero of the season. While Whirlaway won more than twice as much money and did sensational things, it was Alsab that occupied the center of the stage at the curtain's fall.

He immediately became the winter favorite for the Kentucky Derby and much of the interest in the season of 1942 centered upon what he might not do.

The enthusiasts chanted his praises in swelling strains. The conservative

Avey Smith And Mary Davy Win At Foxcroft

Miss Averill Penn Smith, daughter of Mrs. W. Plunket Stewart, of Unionville, Pa., and of The Plains, Va., showed up all the rest in horsemanship in the Davis Challenge Cup Alumnae Riding of the Foxcroft School Horse Show, last Monday, May 11. Like Abu Ben-Adhem she led all the rest when it came to riding, was the best in the consensus opinion of Judges: Mrs. Fletcher Harper, wife of the Orange County Hunt M. F. H., Mrs. James Van Alen, of New York and Virginia and Robert B. Young, of Middleburg.

Cottesmore Takes International At Belmont

Reigning Champion Of 1940
Returns To Form Touncing
Best Field Of Year

Steeplechasing returned to Belmont Park, with the conclusion of the Pimlico meeting and the final chase there on Preakness Day. On opening day at Belmont, Robert Lehman's grey Gulliver II romped home easily to win from the smallest field of starters yet to be seen at a big track this year. Gulliver II won from Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark's Alcaldale, Lieut. Bayard Sharp's Air Marshal and Mr. Clark's Night Heron to get the $975 winner's share of the $1,500 purse.

This state of lethargy in the steeplechasing ranks was quickly dispersed as George H. "Pete" Bostwick rode forth in the International Steeplechase Handicap with 8 starters, on Tuesday, on his old favorite and champion chaser of 1940, who was asked to carry top weight, and returned the winner in a brilliant exhibition, as only a championship combination can perform. Cottesmore, an imported son of Heverswood—Ruddy Dawn by Inverman, raced but twice last year and came

Piddle Valley Ring Setting For South Dorset Pony Club Outing In England

Young Generation At Play Glowing Sight For Hearts Of Old Who Look To Budding Nucleus To Carry On Sport Of Foxhunting, Which Like Funeral, Has Land's Society Mingled

By A. HENRY HIGGINSON, M. F. H.

In these days when everyone's mind and thoughts are intent on the almost hourly radio reports of the happenings in the various war zones of the world, it was refreshing to stand on the Dorset hills and watch the younger generation at play. On Tuesday afternoon, April 21, the older members of the South Dorset Hunt, including two distinguished generals who had retired from active service, stood on a hill overlooking the Piddle Valley in Dorsetshire, and watched the younger members of the South Dorset Hunt—that budding nucleus which we older men hope will carry on the sport of foxhunting in years to come—riding their ponies across the fences of the hunter trial course, which Lieutenant General Sir Henry Jackson, K.

Woodfellow Again In Championship Form With Owner

Preliminary Hunter
Championship Class Is Held
Over Fences In Philadelphia

BY J. ROBERT McCULLOUGH

Miss Patricia DuPont repeated her success of the National Horse show last fall as she piloted her Woodfellow to champion hunter of the show at Philadelphia, Pa., last week. Riding in a large field of really fine conformation hunters, Woodfellow gave his usual excellent performance in all his classes to finish a popular as well as an official champion on Friday and Saturday, May 8-9. Up until the last class of the show, Miss Deborah G. Rood had her Carrighatter in serious contention for the tricolor but apparently 3 days of showing had soured the 4-year-old colt and he was blown out of the ring.

The championship, incidentally, was different at Philadelphia in that the conformation hunters who had shown in previous classes competed over fences as a hunting class for the championship rather than gain it via the point route.

With 5 blues and a red Woodfellow smothered all competition, going unplaced in one class only. That

Radnor Features To Sir Romeo And Frederic II

Seven Races All Cracking Contests As Meeting Is
Financial Success

Clapping the lids on the hunt meeting public's gasoline tanks may have a desperate reaction to the sport in days to come, but Radnor Hunt's 15th annual spring race meeting got under the priority ban wire by a week, and showed a cracking good day's sport to a goodly throng. The advance sale of tickets and car parking spaces was sufficient to insure the financial success of the 1 day meeting up on "Chester Brook Farm", Berwyn, Pa., long before Mrs. Amory S. Carhart's Sir Romeo accounted for the 15th running of the well known Radnor Hunt Cup timber race and E. B. Schley's Frederic II won the historic National Hunt Cup, brush feature.

With the 1st race, The Chesterbrook plate split into 2 sections, 5 starters in each, there were 7 races during the day, bringing out 42 runners, enabling trainers Morris H. Dixon and James E. Ryan to secure a double each and R. C. Hamilton (Shot Gun), Arnold Scruton (Sir Romeo) and Oleg T. Dubassoff (Frederic II) each to saddle a winner. These were all good contests, won by heads, necks and parts of lengths, but for the 1st two flat races, when Mr. Ryan saddled Mrs. Esther du Pont Weir's Picture Prince and Rokeby Stables' Flying Friar and put up Mr. John Bosley, III, who rode a double and won each contest convincingly, by 3 and 5 lengths respectively.

Victory Meeting For Charles Town June 15-July 5

BY GABY

Those who reap benefits from the racing at Charles Town (W. Va.) are to be congratulated for relinquishing half of the current spring-summer meeting dates for a "Victory Meeting", whereby the Army and Navy Reliefs and West Virginia charities will benefit.

Heretofore Charles Town meetings have opened immediately following Pimlico (Md.) and run through July 4. It was a surprise this year when Charles Town announced but a 24 day session, May

Pure Bred Dogs In Demand For Sentry Duties For Defense; Foxhounds Useful

By W. NEWBOLD ELY, M. F. H.

As the regional director for Pennsylvania for Army sentry dogs, I shall like to urge all Chronicle readers to secure all possible dogs for this vital work.

The Army has found that a sentry dog will actually take the place of 6 to 8 men, thus releasing that many extra soldiers for service elsewhere. Obviously a dog can detect a stranger at a far greater distance than any human can. As a matter of fact, all hound people have a chance to do their country a real service because foxhounds on account of their scenting prowess have exceptional possibilities. Moonshiners have long realized this and usually keep hands near their stills to warn them of the approach of revenue men.

Many Uses

The sentry dogs are used in the Army to guard trucks, tanks in depots, airplanes, warehouses, munition dumps, etc. The dogs can detect a saboteur in hiding or on a dark night when the soldier could never do it.

The Germans are using 150,000 sentry dogs and are now supplying the Japanese. Russia has 50,000 attached to their army.

We have only 67 in training and General Gregory wants 2500 minimum by the end of the year, followed by 5,000.

So dig up all suitable dogs you can so they can be immediately put in training. Let's not have "too little and too late" apply to this effort.

Any pure bred medium size dog will do, the training period is two months, the time per dog a minimum of 1 1-2 hours per day.

A large number of trainers have already volunteered and are training army sentry dogs now.

You can help by giving (a) a dog, (b) your service as a trainer or (c) money. Write Dogs for Defense, Inc., 22 East 60th St., New York City.

Property of U. S. A.

Dogs given for this service become the property of the United States Army and will not be returned. When the war is over they will be kept, bred and trained for these duties.

Many dog shows, horse shows and other events are being given for the benefit of Dogs for Defense, Inc.

So many people are wondering what they can concretely do for the war effort. Here's something tangible. Get around among your friends and sign up all the suitable dogs you can. Then write Dogs for Defense, 22 East 60th St., New York City and you will be given instructions as to what to do with them.

Our official U. S. Army requirements are as follows:—

Definition

A sentry dog is a dog trained to accompany a sentry or guard; to be an extra pair of eyes and ears for the sentry or guard, particularly at night; and to give warning and locate an intruder on command.

Type

Any pure bred dog of either sex, physically sound, between the ages of one and five years, with characteristics of a watch dog qualifying under the physical examination and standard inspection of Dogs for Defense, Inc., is suitable.

Requirements

Sentry dogs must demonstrate complete compliance to the following commands and ability to warn, as follows:

Command:—Heel.

This phase of the training must insure the dog's being at all times under control of the handler both on and off lead. The dog must stay at heel on the left side of his handler. It is not necessary for him to sit automatically when the handler halts. Absolute steadiness is necessary, rather than perfection of position.

Command:—Stay

The dog must stay, on command "STAY" or signal. He may be either in a sitting or down position. He must demonstrate instantaneous response to command or signal. His attitude should be one of complete compliance with the order and he should show no inclination to resent the restraint or become restive until released.

Command:—Out

The dog must go out on command "OUT" and search is the direction indicated by the handler.

Command:—Come

The dog must on the command "COME" return to his handler under all circumstances, and it is advised that the training in this command include coming to the handler regardless of various distractions.

Warning

The dog must give warning at all times of the presence of any stranger by coming to attention, barking or growling.

All commands used in training must be preceded by the dog's name and shall conform to this standard. This avoids confusion in the training of the dog's future handlers and in case dogs are shifted.

Test

Upon the completion of training, duly appointed qualified agents of Dogs for Defense Inc., will examine all dogs on these requirements under various distractions, including gun fire.

General Remarks

The trainer must realize he is training the dog to be worked by someone else. It should be emphasized that no one should be permitted

Dun Pickin Champion Of Barbara Worth's Charity Horse Show

The third annual Charity Horse Show held on May 2nd and 3rd, near Sacramento, Calif., was fortunate in having grand weather and a well-filled entry. The show was capably judged by Mrs. John Cowan of Flintridge, Calif.

The hunter championship finally went to Dun Pickin, owned by Mrs. W. G. Barrett. This was a very close decision over Miss Norma Mathew's Hackles Up, who was only 2 points behind. Air Mail, owned by Peter Lert took 3rd with Mrs. F. B. Hart's Bridge Light, 4th and California Don, owned by Dr. W. M. Campbell 5th.

The Mathews horses seemed headed for championships as F. J. R., Miss Norma's consistent gray jumper, won the jumper championship with 9 points out of a possible 10. This horse was the winner in the Victory Sweepstakes with 2nd and 3rd going to W. C. Wright's Silver Fleet and Laddie in that order. Clipsy again 4th and Salto, owned by Theresa Buford took 5th.

The open hunter class went to Hackles Up with a smoother go than Dun Pickin, who was 2nd. Don Burress' General Waldec, a very good type, 3rd, Opque, owned by Miss Lorayne Deller 4th and Miss Rita Tespin's Dick Zee 5th.

The working hunter's cross country was won easily with a top go by Blue Monday, owned by Miss Dorothy Williams. Air Mail 2nd, Dun Pickin 3rd, Mrs. R. A. Fisher's Game Cog 4th, 5th going to Salto.

The hacking phase of the hunter championship went to Dun Pickin, closely followed by Hackles Up. California Don was 3rd, Marksman, owned by Miss Dorothy Davidson to make friends with the dog except the handlers.

A minimum of one and one-half hours working period should be given each dog at least five days a week.

Some work at night during the latter part of training will be required for this training.

Notice

These Specifications are approved by and are the requirements of the United States Army and must be met exactly in order to qualify as a Sentry Dog.

Remember any pure bred dog (actual registration papers not necessary), larger than a fox terrier and smaller than a St. Bernard, either sex, one to five years old. Get the owners to donate the dogs to the Army and write Dogs for Defense. And put on full steam.

was 4th and General Waldec, 5th. This was an outstanding class of hunter hacks and the ribbons were tied only after great deliberation.

The cross country phase of the hunter championship consisted of 12 jumps laid out in a figure eight so the horses were in view at all times. The jumps, though natural in appearance were higher than usual. Bridge Light had an outstanding go to win. While Hackles Up and Dun Pickin were on a par to finish in order named. General Waldec going smoothly but slowly took 4th over Blue Monday who was not in his usual form.

The championship ring phase was a surprise as some of the high point horses were tired and dropped out. Hackles Up, Air Mail and Dun Pickin finishing as named, 4th to Patches, owned by C. L. Swinney, 5th to Hi Toots, owned by Joe Kehoe. The latter two placing on performance.

The jumping class open only to horses ridden by novices who have never won a blue ribbon in jumping competition was won by Ban Hasen, owned by Miss Margaret Davis, ridden by Miss Birdie Boyles. Second went to Salto, Jackie Fuller up. Sierra Sun, owned and ridden by Miss Eva Gene Dager was 3rd. Blue Monday, ridden by Jimmy Fuller and Gold Flight with Mass Hazel Bender up, took 4th and 5th in the order named.

Alison Bowen the championship rider of the show, though finishing 2nd in her division came back to defeat the others and take the award over Miss Carleen Fisher, 3rd going to Miss Jean Lou Stout, 4th to Miss Patsy Lasson and 5th to Miss Jean Mason.

Marriage Wins The Grey Lag Handicap Over Market Wise

Teentee Garners Pimlico Nursery Stakes; Pomrose Wins The Fashion Stakes

The late Cary T. Grayson is the breeder of 2 of the greatest bargain horses of the past several years of racing in Market Wise and Marriage. Both of these horses were bred on the late Admiral's Blue Ridge Stud, near Upperville, Va., and when they met in The Grey Lag Handicap, it remained for Marriage to show preference to the muddy going, rush to the fore and never let contention get closer than 1 1-2 lengths. Back of him Market Wise and Boysy provided a dead heat for the place.

Marriage like Market Wise is a rags to riches horse. Marriage started his 1941 career in $1,000 claiming brackets, when Mrs. William G. Barrett sent him out at Delaware Park, after an 18 month convalescence, in the hands of Trainer Charles R. White. He was quickly halted, run back in $1,200 company, claimed again, this time by that miracle man of the turf Hirsh Jacobs, who raced him to 8 straight wins, from $2,000 to $5,000 company, and then when he thought the lemon was squeezed, started him in a claiming event at Empire City where he was halted by his present owner, R. A. Coward, also his current trainer, for $5,000. Carrying his new colors, this son of Imp. Strolling Player travelled all the way across the United States, to win his 1st outing in handicap company at the rich Marchbank handicap at Tanforan last November.

When Marriage came out in The Grey Lag, to frounce the famed Market Wise, also other well known ones such as Pictor, etc., he won $13,600, the richest purse yet won in 1942 by an Eastern-bred. Although frequently referred to as the "elderly gelding" and the "old former plater", Marriage has won $16,805 in his 6 outings this year, as a 6-year-old, and seems fated to continue his trips to the winner's circle, despite rumors from former connections, "He won't go long, he's nerved", which this department got as long ago as last July.

Teentee, bred by Mrs. J. H. Garth, Charlottesville, Va., and owned by J. L. Collins of Texas, made it 3 straight when he garnered The Pimlico Nursery Stakes on May 8. A son of A. B. Hancock's leased Flares (owned by Belair Stud), Teentee left the maiden ranks in a claiming event at Havre de Grace in which he could have been taken for $3,500.

The Fashion Stakes for 2-year-old fillies at Belmont drew a field of 12 assorted starters. Some of them were making their 1st start, some had made only 2 previous starts and the remainder had had more experience. G. D. Widener's home-bred and trained Pomrose had won 1 of her 2 outings and it was this daughter of Pompey—Rosebloom who proved the best in front of another 2-time starter, Driven Snow. Stefanita, who finished 3rd, was making her initial start. The Case Ace—Rash Hurry filly, Hurriette, recent winner of the Rosedale Stakes, was never an important factor and finished far back.

Nine Eastern-bred 2-year-olds entered the winner's circle during the week of May 6-12. Of this number, 5 were maidens and the 2 above mentioned, Mrs. R. H. Heighe's Adroit, (Imp. Aethelstan II—In India), and D. J. Sullivan's Chalara, (Imp. Challenger II—Khara), were winning further laurels.

A New Jersey sire takes the lead again for the greatest number of winning progeny. The former Virginian, Neddie, had 4 of his progeny win but the progeny of Imp. Strolling Player earned $14,865 to boost their sire to the top for the outstanding money winning sire.

With only 58 Eastern-bred winners as compared with 73 last week, they won larger purses which totaled $66,985. 31 Virginia-breds won the major share of $46,672.50; 16 Maryland-breds won $10,475; 9 New Jersey-breds won $8,575 and Massachusetts and Connecticut accounted for 1 each.

Burch's Pharien Tops Pimlico Spring Sale

Mrs. Ray Fernberg Is Big Buyer; Mrs. Potter's Masked Queen Stable Dispersed

Consignments of Montpelier, Howe Stable, Christiana Stable, Mrs. Charles W. Williams, Goss L. Stryker, William F. Hitt, and A. J. Abel featured the Spring Consignment Sale held at Pimlico Race Course, near Baltimore, Md., last Friday, May 8. This sale was held under the auspices and management of the Maryland Horse Breeders' Assn.

Fifty one lots were listed in the catalogue, but 39 were sold, for a total of $16,215 and an average of $415.

Preston M. Burch's Pharien, bay daughter of Imp. Pharamond II, out of Siren, by Man o'War, topped the sale. Mrs. Ray Fernberg, of Chester, Pa., paid $3,700 for this 3-year-old. Montpelier, the nomme de course of Mrs. Marion du Pont Scott, of Montpelier, Va., sold 5 lots, with Lanceleaf, daughter of the late Imp. Lancegaye, bringing $1,700, when Mrs. Fernberg also was the buyer, paying the 2nd top price.

The buy of the day appeared to be Seventeen Guns, one of the Montpelier consignments. This 2-year-old daughter of Battleship—Flattery, by Imp. Flight Brigade brought but $175. She had started but twice at Pimlico, had shown little, yet her classic breeding, a half sister she is to Pretty Night, stakes winner, makes her interesting for racing and future broodmare duties.

Mrs. Charles W. Williams, proprietress of Stadacona Farm, in the absence of her husband, in Naval Service, sold eight horses, including a lead pony.

Christiana Stable, owned by Capt. and Mrs. Harry Linger of Wilmington, Del., sold 4 and got respectable prices, in contrast to the day's average. Capt. Linger is likewise in the service, commissioned in the Air Corps.

Mrs. Holland Potter, who has so successfully operated her 1-mare racing stable for these past several seasons, sold Bucket Shop and Big Sneeze. Both have raced at the recent Pimlico meeting this spring, and both are sons of Mrs. Potter's well known Masked Queen, daughter of Imp. Masked Marvel II, who has the consistent propensities of producing a winner a year at Mrs. Potter's Beaver Dam farm, near Upperville, Va.

Charles Town Races

11 through June 6.

Gas rationing to begin Friday most certainly will hurt the Charles Town meeting. (Close to 100 percent of the patronage arrives by auto, bus, train, from fairly distant points). The real lifeline now is the special train out of Baltimore and Washington and it is from the nation's Capital that most Charles Town fans come. So now Charles Town has laid the sportation problem right into the laps of Washingtonians by offering a second meeting from June 15 through July 5 with all proceeds going to the Army and Navy Reliefs and West Virginia charities.

The West Virginia Racing Commission, of which Beverly Broun is chairman, unanimously approved the charity meeting. A. J. Boyle is president of the Charles Town Jockey Club.

tives, on the other hand, referred to the records, which showed a long list of wonderful 2-year-olds that thereafter had been dismal disappointments.

They also pointed to the unsparing use that had been made of Alsab as a junior.

No colt, they contended, that had been ground through the mill for 22 races, his campaign extending from February to November, could escape paying the penalty.

Before Alsab had got far on his 3-year-old campaign these critics were saying "We told you so!" with emphasis and reiteration.

Last Saturday's Preakness was the ninth race that Alsab had run in 1942.

It was also the first that he had won.

Beginning February 7 at Hialeah he had rolled up a score of 5 consecutive defeats, in only 3 of them being able to come as good as 2nd.

In most of these efforts his showing had been dismal. In fact, on not a single occasion had he looked anything like the Alsab of 1941.

The turn in the lane was, however, at hand.

He swung into it in the Kentucky Derby, run just a week before the Preakness. After a rough passage he came 2nd and his showing induced the opinion that he was on the up grade and due soon to redeem himself.

This caused him to go to the post favorite for the great event at Pimlico, as he came out of the Derby nicely and his form after reaching the Baltimore track was distinctly pleasing. He looked and acted better than at any previous time since the campaign began.

The race he ran was up to his highest 2-year-old standard—in fact, it was electrifying.

Getting away slowly, he was absolutely last in the field of 9 when three-quarters of a mile had been run. But when he made play it was in thrilling style.

Keeping out wide to avoid interference he rushed up to 3rd place at the head of the home stretch. Then Basil James, who was on him, turned him loose and he swept past the leaders to win by a length from his old enemy Requested and Sun Again, which pair made a dead heat for the place.

The time, 1:57 for the mile and three-sixteenths, broke the Preakness record, hitherto 1:58 1-4 by High Quest in 1934. The track record for the distance being 1:56 3-5, by Seabiscuit, 5 yrs., 120 lbs., in 1938, in his memorable match with War Admiral.

As Alsab carried 126 lbs., the splendor of his performance requires no gilding.

The value of the stake to him was $58,175, net.

Added to his previous winnings this brought his total, to date, up to $182,075.

Pretty fair for a $700 yearling!

Radnor Feature

Mrs. Carhart's Sir Romeo beat the smallest field of timber horses to go to the post this season. But 4 were there to run when the scratching was done. Many were disappointed with Winton's withdrawal, also Hold Forth's. The going was too hard. This was the reason of Stuart S. Janney, Jr., for declaring the winner of the Maryland Hunt Cup out, while Hold Forth had never sufficiently recovered to carry Mrs. Frank M. Gould's colors again, since the 3 hour duration which his girths were taut after he galloped off and left Mr. Sidney Watters, Jr., in the crashing fall this pair took at the Maryland's 19th., to be lost in the woodland Worthington Valley countryside.

When the Radnor Hunt Cup lined up and were away to the 1st fence, Sir Romeo went flying, this time with Mr. Arnold Scruton as trainer-rider up, to lead by 5 lengths, as Capt. George Strawbridge, Jr., followed him on John Strawbridge's Bungtown. Harry L. Straus' Last Appeal, with N. Coe up, (he professional whipper-in of the Carrollton Hounds, of which Mr. Straus is M. F. H.), led Arthur I. Meigs' Coq Noir, Mr. R. P. Hamilton up, who refused and lost 50 lengths before getting to running again.

This little Coq Gaulois gelding, ran a mighty 2nd to Winton in the "Little" Grand National, came back the week later to close ground in great order in the Maryland to finish 3rd back of Winton and Rustie Romance, and for all this had not the smallest little bump upon a leg. His shins were as clean as a show horses, and in condition, he looked fit, ready, but not drawn. As he went to the 1st fence he could be seen to be sticking his toes in but slightly. When he got within a matter of several strides, it was certain he was refusing!

Mr. Hamilton is to be highly commended for the ride that he put up getting Coq Noir back to the course, in making up the 50 lengths ever so gradually, that by the 18th he was able to send the Meigs color bearer out on top. This perhaps was debatable straggle at this juncture.

Mr. Scruton had been sitting against Sir Romeo the whole way, and this Sir Clarence gelding, winner of the Virginia Gold Cup the previous week, was enjoying a 10 lb., pull in the weight from Coq Noir. Bungtown had clung for a long spell close to Sir Romeo, but dropped back sharply as Coq Noir went to challenging 4 fences from home, eventually giving way to Last Appeal, who commenced to close ground at the end, after having preceded Coq Noir for almost 3 1-2 miles.

What a finish it was. Sir Romeo and Coq Noir landed over the last fence together, flew down the stretch as one. Both riders were resorting to hands, heels, their whips were flailing. Coq Noir headed Sir Romeo and gamely he did it, for the 2nd time, having held onto but a momentary lead on the run to the 3rd fence from home.

Sir Romeo proved himself a horse of courage and fortitude, to run from a whip, after having twice been headed. So much must be said of the great hearted little Coq Noir, who made up ground, while conceding weight and then accepted a slamming bumping from Sir Romeo in the deciding strides, right at the finish. It was unintentional, but no matter, Sir Romeo and his rider were guilty of bumping Coq Noir, and some who witnessed same declared the hinderance was sufficient to be declared a foul, to have cost Coq Noir the race. Stewards disregarded it, so too Mr. Meigs, who must be of the sporting substance who goes on the line "You don't gain so much in the end with rushing to the stand."

Mrs. Carhart's Warrenton Hunt's huntsman's mount has thus won 2 of the major timber awards of the year. His triumph last Saturday was deserving.—He beat a good horse and showed courage and heart in doing so. Mr. Straus' Last Appeal, who too is a hunt staff mount, having carried Whipper Coe regularly with Carrollton Hounds, finished resolutely, closing ground at the end and besting Bungtown by many lengths. The time of 8:56 is said to be 10 seconds faster than Comedienne made it last year.

Oleg Dubassoff saddled an entry for the National Hunt Cup in Frederic II, for Mr. Schley and Log Cabin Stud's Chuckatuck. The pair were not run as an entry, neither were they listed as an entry on the bookies' boards, and further, when they came slam-banging down the stretch, you would have thought that Jockeys W. Leonard and J. Penrod were riding for all the Tea in China. First Chuckatuck looked to be the winner, when J. Penrod seemed to be getting more from his 6-year-old son of The Nut in smooth hand-riding, then Frederic II came again, with Jockey Leonard flailing his gad against the sides of his 5-year-old imported gelding by Laeken, in hardly what might be termed a smooth rhythmical manner of encouragement. It was what it took to get Frederic II up, and the 9 lb., pull in the weights was also a help.

Frederic II carried his owner's black, white and orange colors in a gallant fashion, jumped well throughout, let Mahlon Kline's Our Sailor make the pace, then let Chuckatuck go up and take the command, and finally moved to Chuckatuck in the stretch to win by a neck. The time of 5:38 2-5 was good for the 2 1-2 miles and 19 fences. The Radnor course was fast, the jumps are low, but well banked and rounded. Many feel it is an ideal place to get young horses going—there is not much of a chance to get up real speed, and the turns induce handiness.

Mr. Bosley, III, who reduced to ride in the low '50's, and rode the card, all but the timber race, sending James Ryan trained all afternoon, was up on the Raymond G. Woolfe trained Parma, 156, in the National Hunt Cup, giving weight to the field of 6 starters; R. V. N. Gambrill's color-bearer, a good winner, a son of Messenger, was allowed to drop well off the pace, then made a belated move, 3 fences from home. Parma moved up fast to the 17th, got on the outside, then was on the outside for the next fence, that as he swung around the corner, he lost valuable lengths. Still in the end he was less than 3 lengths from the leader. Mr. Bosley, III rode a good race, it was merely a matter of luck that he got Parma in this tough spot. In reviewing the race, it could be seen where he would have had to make his move going to the 15th to have properly placed himself on the inside of the front-running trio, Our Sailor, Chuckatuck, and Frederic II on the last turn. It is a tricky course this Radnor course, you've got to lead yourself almost a turn before a turn.

The entire National Hunt Cup field finished, all standing up, as they did in the featured Radnor Hunt Cup timber race. There were but 3 lost riders during the day, and 1 of these came on the flat, in the finale.

Miss Ella A. Widener broke her maiden as a steeplechase owner,

Carefully Planned Army Breeding Is Answer To Demand

17,983 Thoroughbred Mares Bred To 688 Stallions During 1941 On Remount Depots

The Army horse breeding plan is the very core of the Remount Division of the Quartermaster Corps. A suitable number of military horses must be supplied to the Army each year and this necessitates carefully planned breeding. Throughout the various Remount areas, mares are now being bred to high class Thoroughbred stallions.

From a recent report it was estimated that a total of 18,759 mares were bred during 1941, with 724 stallions at stud.

The Army bred some 17,983 mares to 688 stallions in 1941 to get Thoroughbred produce, the most popular breed in the Army. The next most popular breed, The Arabian, saw 375 mares bred to 16 stallions during 1941. There were also Morgan, Saddlebred, Anglo-Arabian, Cleveland Bay horses bred in the Remount Depots during 1941. No East Prussian horses were bred last year.

Taken by area or depot, the following horses were bred during 1941: Eastern Area—950 mares with 46 stallions at stud; North Central Area—3,872 mares with 124 stallions at stud; East Central Area—4,205 mares with 160 stallions at stud; Northwestern Area—3,950 mares with 165 stallions at stud; Southwestern Area—1,888 mares with 89 stallions at stud; Western Area—2,728 mares with 95 stallions at stud; Front Royal Quartermaster Depot, Virginia—109 mares with 7 stallions at stud; Reno Quartermaster Depot, Oklahoma—62 mares with 3 stallions at stud; and Robinson Quartermaster Depot, Nebraska—57 mares with 4 stallions at stud. There were approximately 25.9 mares to one stallion.

In comparison with the 1940 breeding figures, 808 more mares were bred during 1941. Foals reported born during 1941 numbered, 11,409. This is a low figure since many births were not reported. The greatest number, 11,028, were Thoroughbreds. Foals born during 1941, according to area or depot, were as follows:

Eastern Area—614 foals; East Central Area—318 foals; North Central Area—2,326; South Central Area—2,829 foals; Northwestern Area—2,089 foals; Southwestern

Imp. Dalchoolin Wins Again Taking Tricolor At Hutchinson Show

BY MARY POLL

Mrs. Elizabeth Correll's Imp. Dalchoolin won his 3rd consecutive hunter championship of 1942 by beating the Round Hill Club Stables Modesty for the coveted tri-color ribbon, at the 7th annual Hutchinson (N. Y.) Horse Show.

Dalchoolin had previously won the hunter championship at the Wall Street and Round Hill Shows. In his first 3 outings of this year he has been shown in 15 classes, and has lost but 3 of them, 2 ladies' and one working hunter class.

He was ridden as always, throughout the show by Gordon Wright. Dalchoolin started on his winning ways by taking the blue in the hunter hack class, and then on to win the middle and heavyweight hunters, working hunters, and the hunter championship preliminary.

Modesty won the children's hunters, lightweight hunters, and was the reserve hunter champion of the show.

It had been Mrs. Correll's habit in the past 3 shows, to win not only the hunter championship with Dalchoolin, but also the reserve jumper title with Lew Dunbar. At this show, however, her luck was broken when Al Homewood, (who has recently taken over the Quaker Ridge Stables, on Weaver Street in Scarsdale, N. Y.) again rode H. L. Norton's Play Girl to the title. Play Girl was champion at Round Hill. P. McDermott's Pretty Good won the reserve championship at Hutchinson.

Little Miss Nancy Dean, the younger sister of the famous Dean brothers, Archie and Hugh, seems to be following in their footsteps. Nancy beat 14 other juvenile riders to win the Maclay Trophy.

Top honors in horsemanship went, however, to George I. McKelvey, with Miss Lurline Eberhardt, the winner of the National Horse Show Equitation Event, being reserve to him.

The judges were Mrs. John Gerken, Mr. Thomas Asheton, and Mrs. James Hewlett.

Area—1,196 foals; Western Area—1,880 foals; Front Royal Quartermaster Depot, Virginia—74 foals; Reno Quartermaster Depot, Oklahoma—41 foals; and Robinson Quartermaster Depot, Nebraska—42 foals. With 1942 well on its way, the births of many foals are now being reported. (From War Department Office Of The Quartermaster General, Washington, D. C.)

Garrison Forest Wins Meddler-Toots-Baby Face McDonogh Award

The 4th annual McDonogh School Fair and Horse Show was held on Saturday, May 2, at McDonogh, Md. Garrison Forest School won the Meddler-Toots-Baby-Face Trophy for the school scoring the greatest number of points in all classes. This school also took 1st place in the girls' competition, winning most points and the Towson Catholic School won most points in the "coed" standing. McDonogh School did not compete in the Meddler-Toots-Baby-Face competition.

In the pair class, Meddler, Taylor Cook up, and Baby Face, William Rasche up, took the blue, having previously placed in this order in the jumping event preceding this class. Miniature Fred had taken 3rd in this jumping event, with Robert Rasche riding. In the team of 3 jumpers, Meddler, Baby Face and Miniature Fred were the winners with the above riding.

Other well known winners of the Maryland Horse Show circuits were: Miss Suzanne Eck on Thane of Wales, Lowrey Harden on Tom Thumb, Miss Louise Murray on her Miss Patsie, Hugh Wiley on Chit Chat.

Individual honors went to Edward Le Carpentier for boys under 12, Hugh Wiley, 12 to 16 years and William Rasche for boys 16 to 20 years. Miss Betty Stettinius led the 12-year-old ladies in the individual scoring, Miss Peggy Austin led the 12 to 16 year old group and a tie existed when the day was done between Misses Frances and Kitty Warfield, sisters in the 16 to 20-year-old girl scores.

SIR ROMEO WINS THE 21st RUNNING OF THE VIRGINIA GOLD CUP
(All Photos by Doug Hayes)

The leaders land over the 1st fence: Mrs. Douglas Prime's KITTY KIDD, #1, Mr. Arnold Scruton up, all but over jumps, see how far she landed from the fence; C. E. Tuttle's BLOCKADE, #14, Mr. J. F. Colwill up; Christopher M. Greer, Jr.'s HOUSEMAN, #12, Mr. J. S. Harrison; the eventual winner Mrs. Amory S. Carhart's SIR ROMEO, #9, R. Utterback up, and William F. Cochran, Jr.'s CLIFTONS MAX (back of Sir Romeo). The nose of the grey poking his head into the picture is Maj. Albert's SKY KNEES.

The 11th fence, (the 1st the 2nd time around): SIR ROMEO was galloping by this margin as Mr. Colwill is way wide on the ill-fated BLOCKADE, who stood off too far at the 17th and fell to break his neck.

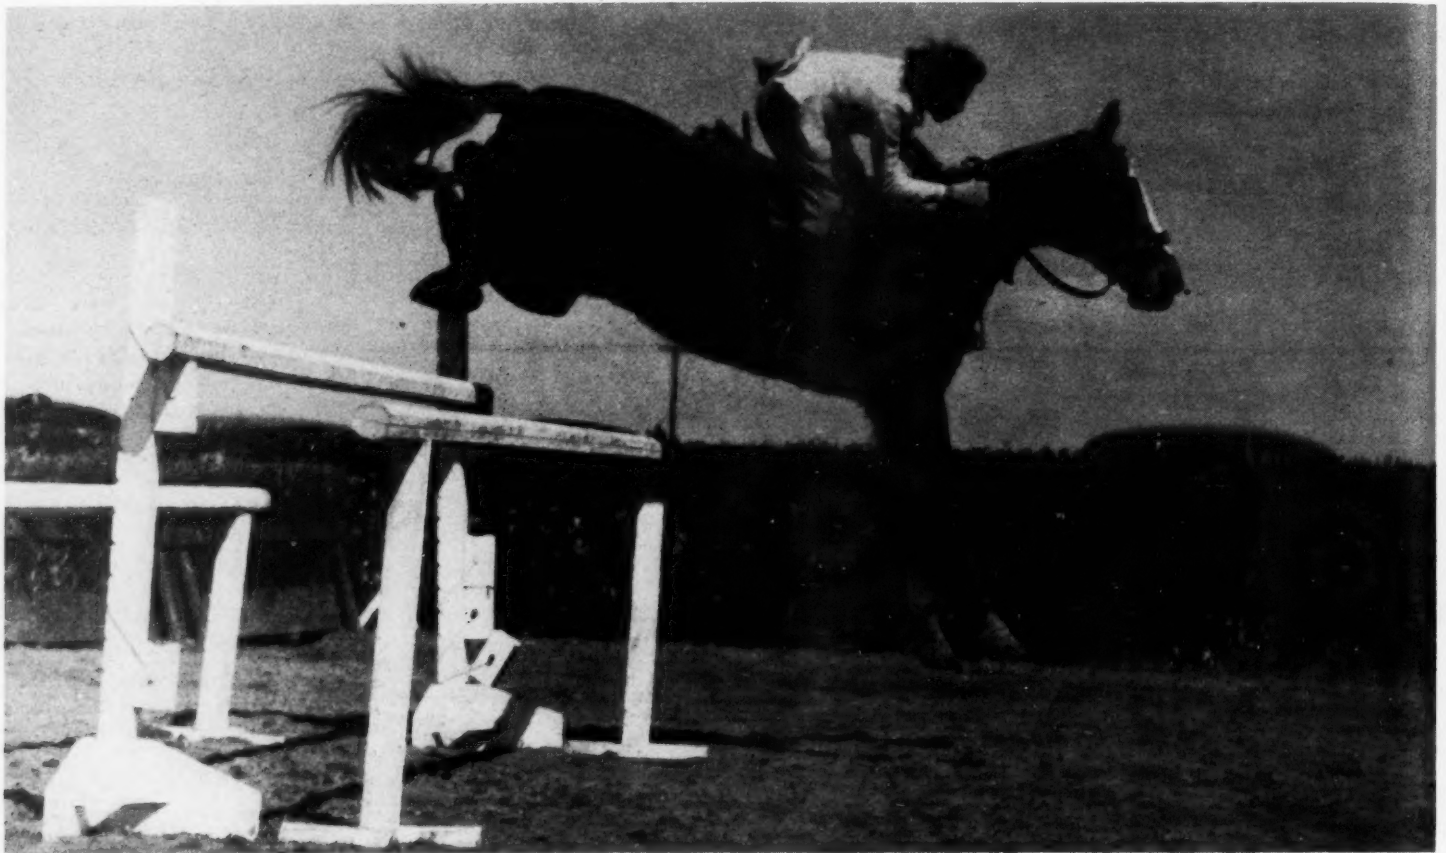

In the paddock, the home hunt entry is saddled. SIR ROMEO's trainer, Bill Anderson is on his near-side, rider R. Utterback hands up the saddle, as brother Utterback holds the lead-shank. Mrs. Carhart looks on, fully appreciating the gelding's fitness, aware of the many long runs he had carrying the Warrenton huntsman afield.

SIR ROMEO came home in a gallop, when but 4 of the 11 starters stood up. The confidence SIR ROMEO's connections had in him is represented: Trainer Anderson is at extreme right; another attendant is draped from the finish flag, still another finishes the Warrenton Hunt horse with a crap-shooting crack of his fingers.

Notes From Great Britain

By J. FAIRFAX BLAKEBOROUGH

Jockey Richards Is Fitting; Few Good Jocks In U. S. A.; Gragalach's Rider Lost At Sea

The late John Brown of Kirby-moorside, famed as a hunter dealer, hunter breeder, exhibitor, judge, racehorse owner and point-to-point rider (despite the fact that he had an artificial leg as the result of a shooting accident), once asked me if I knew of a blood horse like making a hunter stallion. I eventually secured him Fealsham, a horse who subsequently got some very good hunter stock.

Prior to buying him this stallion I took Mr. Brown to Wetherby to see 3 stallions whom George Gunter was retiring from training. They had all 3 made their mark as 'chasers', but 2 of them were not the best of tempered animals. When one box door was opened by old Bob Harper (so long Mr. Gunter's right hand man, and excellent alike in the saddle and in stable), the occupant came for us with his ears back, his teeth bared and striking with his front feet. "Shut him up!" exclaimed John Brown.

Stallion Screamed

The next stallion was racked up, and on entering his box he screamed, and showed his dislike of strangers by letting fly with his hind feet. "Bob", said Brown in a solemn voice, "You've not got the right idea. I've come to try to buy a hunter stallion—not a lion!"

Fealsham, whom I eventually secured from Herbert Copeland (then training near Nottingham) was a very nice tempered horse whose brother Kealsham, won a few steeplechases for me. Well as Fealsham did for Mr. Brown he was, during his career on the turf, one of those disappointing horses who on several occasions gave up on the post when he looked like winning. Yet neither he nor his progeny lacked courage. He was one of many inexplicable cases of racehorses which did not battle out races which they seemed to have them won.

Richards is Fitting

Champion jockey Gordon Richards has during the last week or two been taking long walks to get himself fit for such flat racing as there may be this year. His leg (fractured last May when riding at Salisbury), is still stiff but this is wearing off, and by walking, and riding exercise "work" Gordon will be perfectly fit by the time he again wears silk.

He has not put on much weight, and will be able to go to scale at about 8st. Fortunately Richards has not had to suffer the tortures of the damned as have some jockeys to keep their weight down. He is not "big-boned", and has always preferred exercise to Turkish baths and physic for "slimming".

Turkish Bath Reducing

I remember that in his hey-day the still living George McCall hated the weakening effects of Turkish baths, and both he and the late Jim Fagan walked for miles to get off the very little superfluous fat they carried. Those whose business takes them early to race courses regularly see jockeys running round the track in sweaters and waterproof jackets. When they return to the jockeys' dressing-room they lie down bathed in perspiration, and then, with trepidation again try their weight to see if they have got off the required amount for rides they are to have later in the afternoon.

Prize Winning Apprentices

I hear that at least half a dozen English trainers have apprentices whom they are certain are "prize winners" amongst budding jockeys. The question is—will there be the opportunities for them to get sufficient experience in public to put the finishing polish on their home education and to allow them to prove their abilities? At the moment this seems unlikely.

Poor Jockeys in U. S.

I have had sent me an article appearing in an American paper in which it is stated that in U. S. A. there is more need now for good jockeys than good horses, as, in the opinion of the leading trainers, there are "not more than a dozen jockeys who can be depended on to get the best horse home". The writer adds that trainers are partly to blame, and that the Jockey Club could improve matters by changing the rules governing apprentices. "The allowances for them should be graduated, with the novices receiving more pounds than the lads who have ridden some winners."

Bob Everett Gone

It is sad to hear that Bob Everett, who won the 1929 Grand National (in which there was the biggest field ever) on Gragalach, has been lost at sea. Poor Bob was awarded the D. S. O., a few months ago. He was a gallant horseman, a fearless alman and a cultured gentleman. Like many more he started his riding career as an amateur but turned professional.

Murless' Daughter

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Noel Murless on the arrival of a daughter. Mr. Murless, who rode a good deal as an amateur, then assisted trainer Hubert Hartigan for some years, is now training at Middleham. His wife was Miss Gwen Carlow, a fine horsewoman, who for some years has had a few jumpers in training. She has ridden in, and won steeplechases on the Continent, and is a niece of that best of all Scottish sportsmen, Mr. Tom Stevenson, long partner in turf affairs with the veteran Mr. Alec McKinlay.

Big Rabbit

It was reported recently that a rabbit weighing 4 lbs. 5 ozs. had been shot and several correspondents have written to ask me if this is not a record. The sportsman who shot and weighed this giant says no tame rabbits have been turned out in the locality and adds that "it is a very good rabbit that weighs 3 1-2 lbs." I find, however, that in the generally accepted table of average weights 3 3-4 lbs. is given for a rabbit, 7 1-2 lbs. for a hare, 3 lbs. for a pheasant and 13 oz. for a partridge (hen).

I have no record of a wild rabbit weighing more than 4 lbs. 5 ozs., but see that someone claims to have shot one weighing 4 1-2 lbs. Some of those who have written to me regarding conies have referred to the tremendous slaughter there has been this year and to the effect this will have on foxes. An estate owner, and keen hunting and shooting man, says in a letter to me:

"I have never liked more than a smattering of rabbits, have always been glad to hear of my tenants shooting and trapping them, and have never understood the attitude of landowners who have objected to farmers destroying what had become a pest. Nevertheless, I am (like many others) concerned as to what is to happen to foxes if rabbits are almost exterminated over considerable areas. They are the main food of foxes, and if we further disturb the balance of nature foxes will either leave rabbitless areas for other districts, or turn their attention to less desirable sources of food supply."

Hares Die From Fright

Turning from rabbits to hares I have seen a hare die with fright on being picked up from its form. On the other hand I have seen them kick with real force with their hind legs and also swim with considerable speed. It was one of the "wick" sort which was wounded the other day by a not very experienced shooting man. He picked it up to "finish it off" and it struck out with sufficient vigour to catch the trigger of his gun in which was a live cartridge. How the gun was held I cannot imagine but the unfortunate man was killed.

GET THERE THE HARD WAY

Gasoline rationing begins today in the Eastern Atlantic States. It is not another prohibition, nor regulation or law for Americans to look upon contemptuously. For the sake of stiffening and starching up people of this country, this rationing is being put up to the people. Perhaps through being deprived of gas, it is the first time that the true significance of war has come home to many. In the end this gas rationing should do more to get an all out for defense life going in these United States than anything that has been brought about since Pearl Harbor.

Sportsmen are urged to live within their gasoline allowances and should encourage others to give their honest and wholehearted support to the rationing—not look to various means of using gasoline obtained for truck and pick-up and tractor use for recreational travel.

It is going to be more difficult now for sporting fixtures to continue. Horse show secretaries during the past fortnight, even before this rationing went into effect, were becoming panicky, were writing into this paper, advising of cancellations, of temporary indecision while awaiting the experience of others on the nearby circuits. All are fearful of the rationing effects upon sport.

Racing officials of the big tracks likewise have been giving the problem of patron transportation closer consideration, have made surveys on how to cut down, should attendances drop off sufficiently that income for overhead and purse payments fall short. Tracks in the heart of metropolitan areas, easily accessible to vast multitudes, have less of a problem. Belmont Park is an example, yet Delaware Park, down below Wilmington cannot but have a noticeable decrease in attendance, with the major proportions of patrons dependent upon motor transportation. Still, Delaware Park has given every indication of carrying on in the face of it, listing the same values in stakes and overnight purses.

The problem of getting patrons to the turnstiles of the tracks located in outlying regions is a serious one, just as it is for the horse shows which have fixtures set in the country. For the present, it seems, vans and trucks will get ratings which will enable horse transportation. The problem of the day is how the racing and showing enthusiasts may get to the scene of activities.

It is essential for the future continuance of sport in this country that these trying days during the first stages of the gasoline rationing be dealt with in good spirit and with stout hearts. Conserve gasoline and save seamen's lives, shipping losses, and do a part in this world wide fight for Democracy, should be a thought for all in the world of horse and hound. There must be no chiseling, no conniving for extras to get to sporting fixtures, but get there we must, just as in normal times, for sport needs continued patronage.

"Some came in chases, some walked be-jases". Today, there must be doubling up, sharing cars and vans, traveling by trains and bus, that racing and horse showing may go on. Let no sportsman look lightly upon the seriousness of this business. Rather may it be the creed of the sportsman to do his share in furthering the authority of this rationing regulation while enabling sport to continue through his attendance and getting there the hard way.

The only three-time Maryland Hunt Cup winner in history. Blockade won in 1938, 1939 and 1940.

BLOCKADE

By CHARLES H. L. JOHNSTON

(Fell dead at the seventeenth jump in the running of the Virginia Gold Cup at Warrenton, Va., May the Second, 1942).

My father was great Man o'War, who spoke to me and said:
"Go forth, my chestnut fledgling, and always keep your head,
Your mother—sweet Rock Emerald—came from old Erin's Isle,
She's given you her Irish pluck to help you every mile,
She's willed you Celtic stubbornness, to guide your fleeting form,
And that, with my known prowess, will weather every storm."

And thus I entered in the lists of timber-toppers, gay,
Who love to lark o'er fences to pass the time away,
Three times I raced in Maryland to take the golden cup,
I won it for my Mistress, who filled the goblet up,
And drank a toast to Man o'War; my mighty capious sire,
For in my veins were coursing his righteous vim and fire.

This spirit called me onward, and when I plunged and died,
And struck the wooden paling, his form was at my side,
His voice came thru the sparkling air, his loving tones I heard:
"Well done! Well done, my son BLOCKADE! You've followed well my word,

You never quailed, you never shrank, you ran until the end,
And with the souls of heroes your spirit doth ascend."

Letters to the Editor

Trying To Locate

May 1, 1942.
Staunton, Va.

Dear Sir:

I have been trying to locate a job with horses and was told by a horseman to write you and perhaps you could put me in touch with someone who needs a man.

I have had 18 1-2 years of experience and on my last job 16 years. I have broken and trained both saddle and hunting horses.

Sincerely yours,
Dunbar Alexander.

Had Owner Up

Ambler, Pa.
May 11, 1942.

Dear Sir:

It might be well for you to run a notice correcting the caption on page 8 of the May 8 issue. The caption should read: Morris Cheston's Happyrina, Frazier Cheston up.

Sincerely yours,
W. Newbold Ely.

(Editor's Note: We stand corrected. In the picture of Morris Cheston's Happyrina, winning the Whitemarsh Invitation Cup Point-to-Point, we had Mr. Morris Cheston up instead of Mr. Frazier Cheston up. We regret this sort of error).

A Misconception

May 11, 1942.

Dear Sir:

In the May 8 issue of The Chronicle there was an item reading as follows:

"Redland Hunt will discontinue its hunting activities until further notice. Above in accordance with government request for all to conserve food, tires, help, etc.

Signed Redland Hunt"

As I understand it, the government definitely wants foxhunting to continue, both on account of keeping up the horse supply and as a valuable recreational outlet at the proper times. In fact, I got a letter recently from General Herr in which these views were very definitely expressed.

For this reason I think it would be well to write some kind of an editorial or have a letter sent in clearing up the misconception which is liable to arise from the statement of the Redland Hunt. I have already gotten some repercussions from it.

I think, of course, each hunt is free to do what it wants to, but just because a hunt may have lost a few "angels" is no reason for waving the American Flag and saying everybody else should close up.

Sincerely yours,
W. Newbold Ely.

Ground Up

Durham, N. C.
May 8, 1942

Gentlemen:

If the Maryland Hunt Cup was as well ridden as both your story and editorial about it were well written (no pun intended), it must have been a swell race! I did enjoy your view of the race from the ground as well as with a leg up.

Sincerely,
William H. Ruffin

with her Iron Shot coming home the winner of The Christian Hagen Memorial, 2 mile brush race, with Jockey N. Brown booting and Mr. Bosley, III chasing the roan son of Chance Shot, of stakes winning class on the flat, on Major R. K. Mellon's Similar. Iron Shot won by 3 parts of a length. Similar beat Mrs. James E. Ryan's Trebleap home by a nose. This race had them hanging on to the grassy banked hillside and turret tops of cars cheering. C. Mahlon Kline's Stiegel II was less than 4 lengths away for 4th.

Mrs. Thomas M. Waller's Grand Dan lost his rider at the 11th, in the Christian Hagen Memorial, and Capt. J. J. Kann's Grey Eagle dumped Mr. H. Grant, Jr., on the baked turf at the 10th, for the only two mishaps of the jumping races.

In the Edward B. Cassatt plate, also a 2 mile brush race, Mr. Kline's Phillip II scored. This was a claiming event and the winner raced for $1,000, beating Mr. Gambrell's Tioga, in at $800, and Mrs. Weir's Himmel running for $600. Whereas it was no parade, Phillip II won by 1 1-2 lengths and there were 3 between the place and show, for one of the longest judges' verdicts of the afternoon.

Mrs. Willing Bromley's Shot Gun, a veteran of the Philadelphia countryside, and a popular winner as well, now 10-years-old, won the finale, the 1 1-4 miles on the flat, in which Hubley R. Owen's Ecopan sent J. Maylen down in a hard smasher on the 1st turn. J. Brooks Parker's Cortesano was 2nd, ahead of Mrs. J. E. Ryan's Mor-Luc, 3rd, with Mr. Bosley, III up. This was a well run race, although there was some running up and down the steps to the steward stand afterwards with riders complaining of rough-stuff and bumping on the turns, the verdict stood.

Mr. Bosley, III's record for the day was not a bad one. Of 6 races ridden, for a total distance of 9 3-4 miles, he booted home 2 winners, 1 second; 3 thirds; to get all his mounts home in the money.

24 Classes Carded For Annual Blue Ridge Hunt Show

Millwood Event Slated For Carter Hall Grove On Saturday, June 6

Twenty-four classes have been carded for the annual horse show of the Blue Ridge Hunt which will be held in the oak grove at Carter Hall, Millwood, on Saturday, June 6, Walter C. Lee, chairman of the committee, has announced.

The events are arranged for breeding, hunters and jumpers, green hunters, draft horses and ponies. All classes carry Defense Stamps as premiums, first prize being $6 in stamps; second, $3 and third, $1. Of special interest to farmers and tenants is a class for local green hunters where show stables have been barred from entry. The classes are as follows:

Broodmares, best individual types with foal or bred this season; best foal of 1942; Green hunters under saddle, open to horses that have not won a first in a hunter show this year in classes requiring no jumping or performance over jumps not to exceed three and a half feet; hunters open to all; halfbred three-year-olds suitable to become hunters; thoroughbred three-year-olds suitable to become hunters; middle and heavyweight green hunters; heavydraft horses; handicap class, and working hunters.

Others are, combination ride and drive; lightweight green hunters; yearling fillies; local green hunters; green hunters; ponies under saddle; yearling colts; handy hunters; two-year-olds, both halfbred and thoroughbreds; ponies over jumps; local hunters under saddle; Masters Trophy; green hunter championship, and hunter and jumper championship.

Judges will be Otto Furr and Regan McKinney, hunters; Mrs. James Guitart, ponies, and Lewis Wallihan, heavydrafts.

On Mr. Lee's committee are A. Mackay Smith, A. A. Baldwin, Roland Mitchell, Stacy B. Lloyd, Jr., Mrs. George P. Greenhalgh and W. Lodge Bowles.

far from 1941 form. Others scarcely contenders. Wrackonite got near front runners in early stage.

The Radnor Hunt Cup, 15th running, abt. 4 mi., timber, 4 & up, Purse $400. Value to winner: $200; 2nd: $80; 3rd: $30; 4th: $20. Trophy to winner. Winner: Mrs. Amory S. Carhart's br. g. 13, by Sir Clarence-Silent Maid. Trainer: Arnold Scruton. Time: 8:56.

1. Sir Romeo, 157, Mr. A. Scruton 2-2-5 0
2. Coq Noir, 167, Mr. R. P. Hamilton 0 0
3. Last Appeal, 152, N. Coe 0 2-5

Four started. Also ran: John Strawbridge's Bount, 162, Capt. George Strawbridge. Won by head, driving; place won by 3 1/2; show by 20. 22 fences. Scratched: Sky Knees, Hold Forth, Winton, Rockland Lad. Sir Romeo took command when Coq Noir refused 1st fence, fenced faultlessly, relinquished lead to Coq Noir when latter momentarily took command 4 fences from home, then came again, to be headed in stretch and come again at finish. Coq Noir made up 50 lengths, was slammed against by winner in closing strides. Bungtown jumped well but faded. Last Appeal, improved, closed ground at end.

The Christian Hagen Memorial, abt. 2 mi., 'chase, 4 & up, for non-winners of 2 races over brush, Purse $400. Value to winner: $200; 2nd: $60; 3rd: $30; 4th: $20. Winner: Ella A. Widener's red ro. g. 5, by Chance Shot-Pervcheres. Trainer: M. H. Dixon. Time: 4:34.

and so got the blue.

Miss Penn Smith won the alumnae class just as her sister has before her. She rode throughout the day in various classes placing Mrs. Thomas B. Davis' Woodrock and Miss Charlotte Noland's Rokeby well up in the ribbons.

One of the most delightful combinations seen in sometime in the ring is that of Miss Mary Davy and her sparkling little chestnut mare Best Time. This pair rode into the ring, made sufficient circuits of the course over jumps, in such perfect manner and way of going that the blue ribbon was awarded almost unanimously as 29 other contestants stood in line.

Best Time, as has been said before in these columns, is the grooming accomplishment of Tipper Morris. Miss Davy, the daughter of the Algernon Davy-es of Middleburg, Best Time and Tipper make a rare trio, and many have been the hours that these 3 have worked in their home paddocks, over jumps, and at under-saddle galts. They've found reward in perseverance, let not success hinder them now.

In this good open ladies' class, Best Time was placed over Benton Stables' Sylvan Queen and Woodrock, both ridden by Miss Penn Smith and Mrs. Henry McKnight's (the former June Hanes), Lady Fauquier.

The Greble Award, emblematic of the greatest improvement shown in riding in 1941-1942 was awarded to Miss Betty Shelden. This award is made annually by Mrs. Thomas B. Davis. Closely in line were Miss Anne Legendre and Miss Virginia Johnson.

Miss Jane Baldwin, who rode her Molly McGee to splendid rounds throughout the day, was chosen for The Mackubin Award for 1941-1942 horsemanship. Miss Baldwin is one not only capable of displaying horsemanship while riding, but is one who knows well the way to feed and care for a horse. She was greatly responsible for her brother's Warrenton Hunt Bowl Point-to-Point success when he won with Fibber McGee. She combined with her brother, Clarke, Jr., now in his 2nd year at West Point, in galloping, strapping and feeding this winner.

Miss Baldwin took 2nd to Miss several fences, was close up throughout, would show improved effort with different ride, pulled up sore. Stiegel II, pacemaker for 1st mile, faded, Fred Astaire never forward. Grand Dan lost rider at 11th, when well up.

The National Hunt Cup, 'cap, abt. 2 1/2 mi., 4 & up, Purse $1,000. Value to winner: $725; 2nd: $150; 3rd: $75; 4th: $50. Winner: E. B. Schley's b. g. 5, by Laeken-Fanglia. Trainer: O. T. Dubasoff. Time: 5:38 2-5.

1. Frederic II, 140, W. Leonard 5-8-5 3-5
2. Chuckatuck, 149, J. Penrod 3 0
3. Parma, 156, Mr. J. Bosley, III 0

Six started. Also ran: (order of finish): C. Mahlon Kline's Our Sailor, 142, Mr. Morris Dixon, Jr.; Morris H. Dixon's Mr. Sponge II, 136, R. Jones; Maj. R. K. Mellon's Never Surprised, 139, R. Almonney. Won by neck, driving; place by 3 same; show by 15 same. 19 fences. Scratched: Tarbrush, Iron Shot, Roger O'Chan, Tioga, Himmel, Bold Stroke, Fatal Interview, Jacket. Winner caught Chuckatuck in stretch after latter had taken over lead from Our Sailor at 15th. All 1st three horses jumped well, Parma lost ground, getting on outside of next to last fence and last turn. Our Sailor faded after pacemaking effort. Mr. Sponge II never well forward. Never Surprised disappointed, would have perhaps been in better place with different ride.

The Fairy Hill Plate, 3 & up, abt. 1 1/4 mi., flat, Purse $150. Value to winner: $90; 2nd: $40; 3rd: $20. Winner: Mrs. Willing Bromley's b. g. 10, by Imp Teddy-Why Marry. Trainer: R. C. Hamilton. Time: 2:34 1-5.

1. Shot Gun, 158, Mr. R. P. Hamilton 3-2-5 0
2. Cortesano, 150, N. Brown 2 3-5
3. Mor-Luc, 158, Mr. J. Bosley, III 0

Six started. Also ran: (order of finish): C. Mahlon Kline's Tarbrush, 155, Mr. Morris Dixon, Jr.; Gwladys Whitney's Roustabout, 158, Mr. James Arthur. Lost rider: Hubley R. Owen's Ecopan, 145, J. Maylen. Won driving by neck, place by 1 1/2, show same. Scratched: Fatal Interview, Lloyds of London, Bold Stroke, Roustabout, John Adam, Roger O'Chan, Holbein. Cortesano went out to make pace, but never shook off Shot Gun who was kept well up throughout and won ridden out as others were driving to him.

Mission Valley Hunt Holds Landowners Day For 2,000

On April 12, The Mission Valley Hunt held a day of events for the farmers and landowners over whose land they hunt. Some 2,000 attended the day's events.

The hunting season was good, followers were out 67 times with their pack of good Walker Hounds. The country is well panelled and hunt members enjoyed one of the best seasons since it was established in 1927. Prior to this time Dr. Sinclair Streett, uncle to Bill Streett, of Maryland fame, did much for the new western hunting country with a pack of hounds that could then hunt over much country that is now grown up into residential districts.

Rhode Island Forest Fire Gives First Test For Civilian Mounted Corps

Dungarees Or "Levi's" Are The Things To Wear When Mounted Emergency Defense Men Go Anywhere, Straight Across Country They Won Praise Of Fire Wardens

By Clarence E. Bosworth

During the first week in May, the most disastrous forest fire in the modern history of Rhode Island devastated 56 square miles of pine and hard-wood timber lands in the Coventry and West Greenwich areas of the state. The fire is still burning as this is written, and the loss is being estimated in the millions. Three thousand fire-fighters are still on the job. The Army and the Navy are on duty with men and equipment. Fire fighting equipment from as far away as Boston, Fall River and New Bedford is still in the area.

The Providence Chapter of the American Red Cross, assisted by chapters as much as 75 miles away, is still feeding the fire-fighters and maintaining First Aid stations which have already cleared upwards of a hundred casualties ranging from treatment of burns to the skillful removal to hospital of one man with a broken back. Although handling such a case in this rough, dense forested part of the state was especially difficult, handling was so skillful that no problems for the hospital were added to the original injury and complete recovery is predicted.

I dislike people who talk about their children just as much as most people do, but inasmuch as the Civilian Mounted Emergency Corps, is my baby, I do want to talk about the work it did in this emergency. Like other units which are a part of Civilian Defense in 9 other states and Puerto Rico the Greater Providence unit has been training earnestly for the 3 months which it has been in existence. It was an interesting coincidence that the first unit formed should have happened to be the first unit called upon for assistance. It was a surprising fact that we were called into an emergency that was in no connection with possible service. Out of this experience has come knowledge and we pass it along here for what value it may have to other units in the CMEC as well as to other organizations of horsemen and horsewomen whose objectives concerning service are about the same as ours.

The State Police quickly accepted our offer of co-operation. To save time, they sent trucks for some of the horses. Others were carried the twenty-five miles in privately owned trailers which some of us keep at Capt. Marsman's School for Horsemanship at Seekonk, Mass., just over the state line outside Providence. This time, it took three hours to get the unit to the scene of action which was decidedly embarrassing. One reason was that a short circuit developed in one of the trucks and it took time to find it. The other reason was that, despite the fact that the home and business 'phone numbers of all members of the unit are on file in Capt. Marsman's office, not more than a third of the volunteers could be located during the first half hour. As a result of this experience, the new rule is that as soon as news of a disaster of any kind is broadcast, members must telephone headquarters immediately and leave word where they can be reached if the unit should be called out. We recommend this ruling to similar organizations.

When the Corps finally did arrive at Green, Capt. Marsman conferred with the State Police and Fire Wardens. These were the principal services they wanted from us: (1) To ride the fire-lines and contact the groups of fire-fighters. From these contacts, word of casualties, stretcher cases especially, and requirements in men and materials for the innumerable placements, were quickly carried to outside stations. (2) To ride to the hill-tops and from the advantage in range of observation which being mounted provided, to search out the wisps of smoke which indicated the breaking out of new blazes which started at five-mile intervals with too much regularity and persistence to warrant any other conclusion than that the fires were being set. (3) To record the license numbers of questionably located cars, and to report the presence of persons who seemed to have no good reason for being in the area, the whole of which had been placed under martial law.

We found that the training for service which had been followed every Sunday for three months, notably the map reading and riding to map, had been perfect preparation for this assignment. An interesting sidelight is that no maps were available. The riders were sent into the depths of this densely forested area with only verbal description of the country and their objectives. We had misgiving about one or two members who had so little understanding of maps that they generally followed a wrong route or arrived at the wrong place in practice. But, challenged by a real engagement, every volunteer reached the destination assigned to him or to her (the girls did just as good a job as the men) and came out of the forest within a hundred yards or so of where they were told to. This, really, was a quite remarkable achievement because all members of our unit are "city people" and only two or three have had woods experience even as sportsmen.

Because of the lack of maps, strangeness of territory, and because this was the first experience in real emergency, Capt. Marsman decided to send the volunteers out in pairs rather than singly. He directed operations from the trucks which rolled slowly along the main roads and kept his own mount in the truck for possible use if some rider got into difficulties or became lost. While no such emergency arose, this keeping of one experienced horseman available has been adopted as standard practice for similar assignments.

One of the surprises was to ride straight through the forest to a given objective without regard to roads or trails. Frankly, we always had thought of woods-riding as a matter of following trails and roads. In this instance, there were practically no roads and not many trails. When either did exist, they led to no worthwhile objective. Therefore, it became a matter of bulling through underbrush and of carefully picking ways cross-lots. It was tough going and a kind of work new to both horses and riders. However, the horses were so well managed that even the Thoroughbred hunters, two or three of which have the reputation of being a little hot, did exactly what was asked of them. Even Pres. Earl Whelden, Jr.'s big heavyweight hunter behaved like a gentleman when he plopped something more than belly deep into a swamp. Instead of thrashing around and getting himself mired, he stood perfectly still under assurance of his rider until Whelden could decide how to work his way back to solid ground. This incident proved the value of the establishment of complete confidence between horse and rider which Capt. Marsman has insisted upon ever since the unit started training.

This experience taught several other things and we'll pass them along for what they may be worth to other horsemen on similar assignment. In the first place, trees and shrubbery for miles around were covered with soot and ashes. Therefore, dungarees or "Levi's". Some of the fine whipcords and flannel shirts that went through this tour of duty will never be the same. The fine boots won't ever be the same either. Because the air is so filled with dust and soot and ashes, whenever water is discovered, let the horse rinse his mouth and wash out his nostrils—even at intervals of a few minutes. If the surface of the water is covered with ashes, clear them away in some convenient spot by gently brushing the surface of the water with a stick.

Watch progress when riding through burned areas. On swamp waters, idle streams and pools, ashes may have settled so thickly that the whole area looks like solid ground. A few pebbles carried in pocket or saddlebags eliminate the need for too frequent dismounting in such areas. A tossed pebble of reasonable size will tell whether water or solid ground lies ahead.

If possible, ride under the lee of a hill when going through smoke-filled areas. If a breeze is blowing, it will tend to lift the smoke above the treetops, and as long as the smoke has any heat in it, it will tend toward the upper levels anyway. When riding close to the firelines, stop at frequent intervals and take a good look in all directions. Forest fires are masters of the pincers movement we hear so much about in these war days and a rider may be cut off and surrounded in one of these movements of the fire. None of our members was trapped but some of them galloped for help to extricate one group of fire-fighters who had just been cut off when these riders arrived.

We have the geodetic maps for all areas within fifteen miles of headquarters. We are now going to build

RACING AT RADNOR HUNT 15th ANNUAL SPRING MEETING
(Photos by Carl Klein)

Mrs. Amory S. Carhart's SIR ROMEO won a tight one as he scored his 2nd straight timber cup this spring and took home The Radnor Hunt Cup for his Warrenton Hunt owner. He is shown beating Arthur I. Meigs' COQ NOIR, Mr. R. P. Hamilton up, by this margin, a neck. Mr. Arnold Scruton rode SIR ROMEO, also was the winning trainer. Henry L. Straus' LAST APPEAL, N. Coe up, was 3rd.

The featured brush race, The National Hunt Cup, was won by E. B. Schley's FREDERIC II, (in the middle), W. Leonard riding, besting his entry-mate Log Cabin's CHUCKTUCK, J. Penrod up, in a hard driving finish. Pictured at left, C. Mahlon Kline's OUR SAILOR, Mr. Morris Dixon, Jr., up, who finished 4th.

C. Mahlon Kline's FILLIP II, R. Jones up, won The Edward B. Cassatt plate, a co-featured brush race of 2 miles. Showing the way, FILLIP II, #13, at this juncture led: R. V. N. Gambrill's TIOGA, J. Money up, #15 and Mrs. Esther du Pont Weir's HIMMEL, #12, Mr. John Bosley, III riding.

Ruffin Claim Agent And Brazil Sweep Rocky Mount Show

Miss Fisher Shares Riding With Owner; Norwood Wins Hunter Reserve

BY AL BRANDON

The Rocky Mount, (N. C.) 5th annual Gallopade Horse Show was staged with good success Saturday morning and afternoon and Sunday afternoon May 2-3. Durham horses won both the hunter and jumping championship, with their owner, William H. Ruffin, and Miss June Fisher of Durham, dividing the riding. Claim Agent, 17.0 hand Thoroughbred by Fitzree—Reclaim took the hunter championship in a close contest with C. V. Henkel's crack conformation hunter, Norwood, ridden, as usual, by Ed Daniels, who won the reserve.

Claim Agent was bought last summer from his White Plains, New York, owner, James A. Thomas, Jr., who won the Macley Trophy with him as his mount in the 1940 Madison Square Garden show.

Brazil, the other Durham horse, won the jumping championship, which was hotly contested with a knock-down-and-out class each on Saturday and Sunday afternoon, the bars going to 6'-0" on Saturday and 5'-6" on Sunday. Miss Fisher gave him excellent rides in these 2 features.

Eggnog, owned by Bob Jones, of Rocky Mount, won the reserve by sensational jumping, with his owner up, in Saturday afternoon's knock-down-and-out, going clean over 2 sets of bars at 6'-0". The crowd was then thrilled to see both Pilot, owned and ridden by Kenneth Wilson of Hampton, Va., and Brazil clear the bars twice at 6'-0" to win 2nd and 3rd respectively in the jump off for those positions.

In the Saturday knock-down-and-out Brazil was the only horse to go without fault over the 5'-6" bars. He took 2nd place in the "go as you please", with Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Lea's Bourlant winning 1st place in this big class. Both horses elected to take the 6'-0" spread triple bars. Third place in the "go as you please" went to Red Sails, C. V. Henkel's well known open jumper. Red Sails was a strong contestant in the jumping classes, winning the open jumping stake on Saturday P. M., Eggnog 2nd, and Brazil 3rd.

The popular little June Bug Tate of Pinehurst was in the jumping classes, but having trouble with a green mount, Miss Margaret Skinner of Wilmington, N. C., gave Claim Agent a beautiful ride to win the blue ribbon in ladies' hunters, with Ragnarock, with Miss Dorothy Mitchell up, taking the red, and with Pop, owned by R. D. Gorham, with Mrs. Jameson Dowdy up, taking the yellow. Miss Skinner also won the children's horsemanship over jumps on her mare Brown Betty with Miss Ruth Mitchell of Hampton, Virginia, taking the red and Kenan Rand, Jr., taking the yellow.

Norwood and Claim Agent seemed to give the judge, David W. Roberts, of Hartford, Conn., some perplexing moments, as both with good conformation to start with went well in each class over the stiff outside course, which starts with a 4'-0" brush jump, followed by a formidable 3'-8" coop, then an Aiken, a

Jane Phillips, 13 Proves Her Ability In Austin Events

After postponement of one week due to inclement weather the Austin, Texas, Horse Show drew a large crowd and the classes were well filled. The program was well balanced with jumping, hunter, hack and horsemanship classes evenly divided. Of the 16 events, the walking horse class was the only one eliminated. The horse show committee nicely expressed the aims of the show by dedicating it to the horse and finer sportsmanship. The University Show has been held annually since 1929. The horse today is something more than a tradition in Texas and it is fitting that the university of the state should present this annual event.

Miss Jane Phillips, 13-year-old rider from San Antonio, proved her ability in winning the A. S. P. C. A. event and then jumped into open competition by winning the open jumping on the 13-year-old halfbred Ping Pong, the road hacks on her Thoroughbred mare Dark Girl and as a member of the hunt team composed of 3 Phillips placed 2nd. The opinion is she will give some of the contestants strong competition in the Madison Square classes for horsemanship this fall. The pair jumping course was outside and a tricky one. The winning pair was Christopher Robin, by Escoba and David, son of Bonne Nuit. They were ridden by Bill Bell and Miss Jackie Warren, both did a good job.

The A. H. S. A. class was won by Mary Ritchie, a young rider who showed her versatility by handling both five-gaited horses and Thoroughbreds with equal ability in various classes throughout the show. The three gaited class for pairs was won by a pair of Thoroughbreds, Uptown and Keno. Hunt teams were as usual most colorful and two of the teams entered did so in full hunting equipment, an excellent idea as this phase of hunt teams has not been given much consideration in Texas heretofore. The winning team was (by permission of Rodger Rinehart, M. F. H.) representing the Farmington Hunt of Charlottesville, Va. It was composed of Speculation, a fine type lightweight hunter, David, a grey son of Bonne Nuit and the famous old Fire Chief coming out of a year's retirement with a new owner and good in-and-out, a ditch, then a brush back into the ring, with a 4'-0" post and rail in the middle of the ring. Claim Agent took the blue ribbon in Thoroughbred hunters, was 2nd to Norwood in both the working and corinthian; Rockaway, owned by R. D. Gorham of Rocky Mount, N. C., with Bob Jones up 3rd in the working hunters, with Brazil carrying his owner, Mr. Ruffin, to 4th place in that class, as well as placing, with his owner up, in the half-bred hunters.

One of the highlights of Sunday was the children's hunter class over 4 jumps 3'-0" high won by Blitzkrieg, ridden and owned by Bobby Hilton of Charlotte, N. C., with Margaret Skinner's Brown Betty 2nd, Virginia Girl with little 9-year-old Mary Ann Tate, sister of June Bug Tate 3rd, and Lady Cannon, owned and ridden by Kenan Rand, Jr., of Durham, N. C., 4th.

The show was ably judged by David W. Roberts of Hartford, Conn., with Rocky Mount's Allan Mims doing a good job at the microphone. (Summaries next week.)

up our map library so that we shall have maps for all territory within our range of possible usefulness; and, we are adding compasses to each rider's equipment. It was most surprising that in a first experience of this kind, without maps or compasses, our volunteers won through and came back without anyone's getting hurt or lost. We had no casualties to either horses or riders but when they returned to headquarters, they looked like a lot of mounted Al Jolson all made up and ready to sing "Mammy!"

And what did the police and fire wardens think of the performance? Well, they're still too busy and too tired to talk much but after the first assignment had been completed and Warden Arnold reported by phone to Warden Smith, he was heard to say something like this; "and say, I've got a great outfit working with me. A group of riders is here from the Civilian Mounted Emergency Corps. They can go anywhere. I've sent them all over. They go places I couldn't send a man on foot. They work fast, too. This is the first time I ever had anything like that to work with."

That last sentence explains something and out of it comes a suggestion. Those of us who know the possibilities of mounted service always are surprised when we come into contact with people who do not know these possibilities. Warden Arnold had little idea what these riders would be good for when they first were assigned to him. It didn't take him long to find out. Therefore, if we are to be given the opportunity to serve, we must approach most Civilian Defense officers, many police officers, Red Cross officials and the like with information rather than with a request for assignment to duty of some kind. The assignment to duty comes quickly enough if the officials in charge know what these units are good for. They should be told about that now.

Coed—Towson Catholic. The Meddler-Toots-Baby Face Trophy, awarded the school scoring the greatest number of points in all classes—Garrison Forest School. (McDonogh School did not compete for this award.)

up with a tendon disposition. Mr. Bostwick, his trainer and rider, so respected his "gentleman", that he laid him by for the rest of the season.

Cottesmore came out this year at Pimlico, in The Jervis Spencer Memorial, when Bath went flashing about in his lightning bolt manner to triumph. Mr. Bostwick rode Cottesmore in this outing, finished 2nd, closed much ground on Bath in the final stages, but obviously was content with as much as he could get without giving Cottesmore a beating. In this race, Rokeby Stables' Redlands ran 3rd and Louis Mayer's Ossabaw ran 4th. Taking away Bath this was the way they ran at Belmont Park in The International, with little doubt left as to the improvement The Jervis Spencer outing had given Cottesmore, 1940 winner of the Belmont Park Grand National. (Thus Hitchcock horses finished 1st, 2nd and 3rd again).

The International brought out the classiest field of stake horses seen this season. Jockey Roberts gave Redlands a smooth ride, sent him along in the pacemaking position, as Oleg Dubassoff obviously was experimenting with a waiting ride on Ossabaw and Jockey J. Penrod held the Louis B. Mayer jumper back of Redlands, even dropped him in behind Cottesmore, Redlands, and Invader at one time, to have little left in the final stretch.

Mr. Bostwick had Cottesmore under steady restraint the 1-2 turns of the field, then moved, on the back side, after a slight bobble, took command and was not really threatened again, although he was on even terms at the last fence with Redlands. Mrs. Clark's Invader, getting his 1st start this year, was never worse than a half a dozen lengths from the leader, showed courage and turned in a good effort.

Mr. Clark's Castletown ran and jumped evenly, seemed to lack foot, as did Montpeller's Caddie.

Mr. John Hay Whitney's Cupid, fresh from a long transcontinental train ride from his winter of Caliente's (Mexico) 'chasing campaign', had no mishaps and could not threaten the frontrunners, nor could Kent Miller's Elkridge. The 3 finished within 22 lengths, and the time was 3:43 4-5, reasonably fast, considering the record held by Fairmount, set in 1926 of 3:40.

Foxcroft Show

John and Miss S. King on Lord Sands, took the blue. They had a good even performance, well spaced, clean over their fences, and they beat alumnae riding such well known hunters as Silver Cup, owned by Miss Eleanor Mackubin (Miss Teresa Shook up), Rokeby (Miss Penn Smith) and student, Miss Anne Ordway on her Nuthatch. This latter grey had an extraordinarily even round in the hunter race but was disqualified for cutting a flag and laying a rail. Miss Ordway is as good as they ride at Foxcroft these days, and they are riding exceedingly well these days.

Miss Dorothy Fred brought out her little Storm Pearl to win the small open class for pony hacks, besting Miss Davy on Bambino, while in the larger class, Miss Ellen Simpson won with Border Queen.

How the girls have been working in line of defense and in military education was ably displayed in some splendid exhibition drills, by Foxcroft School's Mounted Defense Troop. The purpose of this troop is to be available, as an organized unit, to carry out emergency work which might arise. The troop keeps itself fit in drilling and keeping the main riding paths open for emergency calls.

Blues were well distributed throughout the day, as may be gleaned from the summaries.

South Dorset Outing

day's sport—not only planned but managed. For on the day of the competition he was there in person to encourage the children and see that the events were run off in a business-like and proper manner.

Mounted on his own gallant hunter, from whose back he has seen the end of many a good hunt, Sir Henry seemed to be everywhere, encouraging the youngsters and even giving leads to those children whose ponies had not the confidence to go by themselves. Of course it is unorthodox to give a competitor a lead, but what matter? Everyone was out for fun and rules were of no moment.

There were, I suppose, some 25 children there with their ponies—ponies of every sort and description—many of them looking as if they had been at pasture all winter, with long unkempt coats and shaggy manes and tails; but the children rode them boldly at the varied fences in the course and, for the most part, they negotiated the obstacles safely.

One youngster fell off when her pony pecked at a rather difficult drop fence, and never in my life have I seen a child run so fast as that little girl did in pursuit of her pony. She caught him too, climbed on, and managed to make the rest of the course in safety, amid the applause of the spectators.

It was a beautifully laid out course and the Judge, Lieutenant General Sir Wentworth Harman, K. C. B., D. S. O., who was seated on a platform built in the crotch of a tree on the top of the hill, had a wonderful view of the entire course; while the other older spectators, who were clustered round its base, saw most of the fences perfectly.

Hunting people in America can hardly realize the tension under which everyone living in England labours to-day, or the relief that such an event as this gives to the mothers and fathers and wives of the men who are serving England at the front, or who perhaps were at Singapore or Hongkong. As I stood on the green Dorset hill underneath the Judge's stand and looked over the peaceful Piddle Valley towards the Sea, it seemed almost impossible that there was a war going on across the English Channel not so many miles away, where the crash of bombs is often heard.

To me the sight of those English children who will some day carry on the sport which is so identified with England, competing against each other or riding in company with their mother, (There was one class in which Mrs. T. F. Turner was a winner and her daughter was placed 3rd)—is an augury for the happy ending of the fearsome time through which we are all passing. Were I to tell American readers the names of the winners, it would mean nothing, but I feel that perhaps the readers of The Chronicle may enjoy a short account of a spring day in that part of England in which I live.

It was a joyful occasion and one which I think augurs well for the continuance of hunting, which is, after all, as the Poet Laureate John Masefield has told us, "a sport loved and followed by both sexes, all ages, and all classes. At a fox hunt", he says, "and nowhere else in England, except perhaps at a funeral, can you see the whole of the land's society brought together, focussed for the observer, as the Canterbury Pilgrims were for Chaucer." May it be long before such gatherings cease.

Carol Horton Wins
Garrison Cup For Best Horsemanship

BY WOOGIE

"All's well that ends well", that is just what one might say about the 8th annual Garrison Forest School Horse Show held May 9. Cheers from enthusiastic scholars filled one's ears as 3 favorites received championship awards.

Miss Carol Horton was presented with the Garrison Cup (judged on horsemanship and sportsmanship throughout the show.) Pasha (by Dimisdale, out of an Arabian mare, Hasha) is Miss Edith Knight's pet as well as a splendid show horse, and was crowned champion hunter.

Pincushion, a black and white pony belonging to the school, walked off, for the 3rd year, with the champion pony award.

This show was not this rosy throughout. There were numerous riders who parted from their mounts. The most breath-taking spill was that of Star Dust with Pat Allen up. Star Dust, a beautiful grey, after jumping two jumps, took off over the exit gate and caught his hind leg, down they both went. Star Dust freed his leg with difficulty, and fortunately had only skinned his knees.

Let's not dwell on the mishaps, but turn to the ladies' hunters, which was run over a small but complete outside course. Miss Vica Schnlewind on Breezy Morning had a clean performance, as well as a smooth and comfortable looking one, and the pair was rewarded with a "blue," 2nd was Miss Harriet Stokes on High Towers; 3rd Miss Priscilla Littman on Monk.

Melody and Tommy Tucker were taken back into the ring 3 times to jump off for 1st place in the touch and out. The final outcome was: Melody, Tommy Tucker and Jeff.

When Tinkle Belle, Pincushion and Secret won the pony hunt teams, I could not tell whether the ponies were pleased or not, but there was little doubt about their riders: Miss Jane Piper, Miss Kitty Ballard and Miss Jerry Kilby. They all let out squeals of joy and could hardly wait to display their silver nut dishes to their friends. It is a pleasure to see their excitement, instead of the too often blasé winner.

class was the hunter hack which was won by Miss Elsie Morris' Jewel J., under the ride of Miss Betty Mills. Woodfellow opened his campaign on Thursday night with a blue in the open hunter class having only one hind tick scored against him. Miss Rood gained 2nd place with her Carrighater by virtue of a refusal at the 2nd fence. Carrighater, incidently is a handsome young thing and will be getting his share of tri-colors before long. Jewel J. won 3rd in this class.

Returning to the ring an hour later, Woodfellow romped off with the light hunter class as Carrighater ran out of the money. Mr. and Mrs. J. Harley Nash's Sunnybriar took the red this time as Mrs. Edythe Bleakney's Imp. Slieve Bloom coped the white. With 2 firsts out of 2 tries the Playfellow gelding was through for the night.

Friday night's show saw him in only one class. The hunter hack class in which he went unplaced as Jewel J., M. D. O'Banlons Rosevixion and Mrs. Elizabeth Correll's Dalchoolin finished in that order. Miss Rood's Carrighater took advantage of Woodfellow's inactivity to gain 2 blues and lessen the gap. The big chestnut gelding went the green hunters' course clean to score ahead of Sunnybriar and Shirley Stanley's Steelship after trimming Sunnybriar and Rosevixion in the youngsters class for 5-year-olds and under.

Saturday afternoon saw Woodfellow yield to Capt. Stauffer's Cannabis in the working hunters class where his conformation was of no use to him. He gained a 2nd here, beating out Dalchoolin but then came back in winning form later in the afternoon to gain the ladies' hunter blue. Carrighater again took 2nd ahead of Jewel J. Continuing this winning stride he went the course clean to win the Dixie Bell Challenge Trophy for local hunters, ahead of Sunnybriar and Miss Ann Dickinson's Impudence. Just to prove that he was the class of the show he turned in a flawless performance in the last class of the show to win the $250 hunter stake and champion of the show.

If his Philadelphia performance is any criterion, he'll be the horse to beat at Devon. Mrs. Elizabeth Correll's Dalchoolin gained reserve although including his points in the championship class he was 5th behind Carrighater, Jewel J., and Sunnybriar. Miss Dickinson's Impudence was 3rd and Imp. Slieve Bloom 4th.

Joseph J. Wall's Ballistic was the big one in the jumping classes with three 1sts two 2nds and two 3rds. Alex Atkinson was at the controls and a good boy he is too!

Getting off to a slow start, the slender brown gelding scored 3rd behind Lew Dunbar and Bowling Green in the knock down and out class. He was a bit strange in the ring, this being only his 2nd show. He hit his winning form in the next event, however topping Mrs. Bleakney's Foggy Morn and Mr. and Mrs. William B. Wachtler's Tops'l in the open jumpers class.

In the Bristol Challenge trophy event Lew Dunbar took a nasty spill over the 2nd jump, a 5'-0" pile of balled hay, tearing off a shoe as he went down. Apparently the spill shook him up a bit for he was scratched from all his remaining classes, save one. Capt. Stauffer's Cannablis took 2nd here to Tops'l, as Lew Dunbar's stablemate, Thunder Boy got the white.

In the last class Friday night, Ballistic came back to take top honors going the knock down and out course clean twice, getting his blue in the jump off with Tops'l and Thunder Boy who won 2nd and 3rd respectively.

Foggy Morn emerged the victor of Saturday afternoon's knock down class with Tops'l and Grand Larceny finishing behind him. Joe Green had the ride on the first two horses. However Ballistic was back in the fight again to take the 5'-0" class, leaving Thunder Boy and Cannablis to scrap over 2nd and 3rd. In the last class of the afternoon, Lew Dunbar was top horse for the touch and out sweepstakes. Despite his nasty fall he got two 1sts for two tries during the show.

In Saturday night's knock down and out sweepstakes, Cannablis reversed the tables on Ballistic to beat him out for the blue. He repeated again in the $250 jumper stake with Grand Larceny gaining 2nd, leaving 3rd to Ballistic.

Mr. Wall's gelding had compiled enough points to insure his championship even without placing in this class. The Liberty Bell Challenge Trophy.

The final jumping class, The Sargeant Joe Challenge Trophy, named for that gallant open jumper of several years ago, was not really a jumping class but consisted of the presentation of the Trophy to Ballistic as champion jumper of the show and a ribbon to Capt. Stauffer's Cannablis as reserve.

All in all, the revival of the 3-day show in Philadelphia was a grand success. Saturday afternoon featured several children's classes, among which were the child's jumping class won by Miss Betty Anne Levis on her Imp. Kil Knoney with Miss Betty Randal on Duke and Miss Jill

Old Hickory Farm And Calumet Farm Combine In Sale

108 Lots Sold For $52,225
For $484 Average To Sustain
Horsemen's Optimism

Col. Phil Chinn, proprietor of the well known Old Hickory Thoroughbred nursery, in Kentucky, who has spent many years of his life in the throes of dispersal sales, having held them in Germany, France and Mexico, as well as in this country, held another successful vendue on April 24. This time he combined his sale with Warren Wright's Calumet Farm and 108 lots were sold for $52,225, for an average of $484, which left many horsemen attending in an optimistic frame of mind.

"The consensus was that there had been a number of steals, but that many of the horses had sold well", was remarked by The Blood Horse in their last week's coverage. Asked by a Blood Horse representative, whether he was satisfied, Col. Chinn replied: "Satisfied? I am always satisfied when I sell horses. I can go back to the business tomorrow. As a matter of fact, I tried to buy several Calumet Farm's horses."

The 88 horses sold by Col. Chinn represented a complete dispersal of his Thoroughbred holdings. Top price was paid for his stallion Zacawesta, 16-year-old son of High Time, who was purchased by the Military Stock Farms, Paris, Ky., for $12,500. John W. Stanley was the runner-up bidder, it is reported.

The best yearling price of the day was $1,300, brought for a good son of Zacawesta-Spooky, by Pillory. T. D. Grimes who purchased the well known 3-year-old With Regards winner, (4th in the Kentucky Derby) from Mr. Chinn, was the buyer of this youngster.

All the mares were sold with stud fees paid for 1942-43 foals with the exception of one.

rider aboard. The first was ridden by Miss Winifred Small of Austin, Texas, second by Miss Jackie Warren of Monkton, Md., and the last by Fred M. Lege, III of Fort Worth, Texas. All of the ribbon winners in the green hunter class were registered Thoroughbreds out of a class of eleven entries. Road hacks were dominated by a Thoroughbred hunter owned and ridden by Miss Jane Phillips. The open jumping was over a course that would have been suitable for handy hunters, and was won by Miss Jane Phillips on Ping Pong, with Jackie Warren standing second on her David, after a jumpoff with Mrs. Burr's Uptown.
The large number of jumping entries and the hunter interest was a thrill to those who have this at heart.
Several of these owners have panelled their large ranches and with the plentiful supply of native foxes have been able to enjoy quite good hunting.

Poloist Interned

J. B. (Gilly) Gilmore, a Texas poloist who has competed in tournaments in all parts of the United States and in Mexico, and Mrs. Gilmore have been interned by the Japanese in Manila, according to Texas friends who learned of their fate recently when a list was published of the Japanese prisoners. Mr. Gilmore had been in the Philippines for about two years, and was manager of the polo club in Manila. For a number of years, Mr. Gilmore played on the Texas All-Star team, along with Cecil Smith, Rube Williams, and Tom Mather, and competed in tournaments in San Antonio and California. He is well known in polo circles in the north and east, as well as in Mexico City.

Texan At Riley

Charlie Hall of Austin, an outstanding Texas horseman and polo pony trainer, is in the U. S. Cavalry at Fort Riley, Kans. He is taking the basic training course of five weeks, at the Fort Riley Cavalry Replacement Training Center. He writes that only about five per cent of the men who go through there remain in the horse cavalry, so he is hoping for luck at the end of the training period. He is well known in Texas polo circles, and played on the Austin polo team. His outstanding qualification as a horseman and trainer is his patience and gentleness.

Texas Racing

J. R. Decker, Sr., of Llano, purchased two Thoroughbred mares recently from A. H. Schorlemmer of Llano, and plans to put them into training for summer race meets to be held in several Texas towns, including Brady, Lampasas, Junction, Boerne, and Rockspring. The mares are full sisters, by Mr. Schorlemmer's Thoroughbred stallion, Galopin Lad, and out of one of his best brood mares, Sun Straw. They are Sunny Bliss, aged five years, and Sunny Sis, four years of age, both are coal-black like their sire. The mares were raised on the Schorlemmer ranch in Llano County, which is recognized as one of the best of horse-breeding sections.

Brady Colt Show

In the heart of the horse and cattle breeding country of Texas, there is a yearly colt show, just 3 classes for Thoroughbreds and a like number for halfbreds. It is important as these colts are chosen from the large herds of the stockmen as the top of their products. This year, Bob's Reno by Reno Idol by Stimulus out of Forebode by Escoba topped the Thoroughbreds. His owner breeder is A. W. Bales of Lampasas, Texas. In the halfbred division Bonnie Joe, by another Remount stallion Singaris out of a quarter mare was winner. Earl Haley of Fort McKavett owner. A colt clinic was held by Capt. Bernard F. Trum for the Remount Station at San Angelo, who gave a talk on Foal Diseases and Treatment. A large crowd attended as usual. D. W. Williams of the Texas A. and M. judged the colts.

Detroit To Air Corps

Walter O. (Spike) Briggs, Treasurer of the Briggs Mfg. Co., and son of the owner of the Detroit Tigers Ball Team has been commissioned 2nd Lieut. in the Air Corps and will report to Wright Field at once. Lt. Briggs is a keen hunting man in the Bloomfield Hills and Metamora Countries, a good man piloting timber horses and a show ring rider.

Mexico City

A telegram from Harry Evinger, member of Winston Guest's polo team now playing in the tournament in Mexico City has arrived in time for our press. Quote "Won series from Mexico and Argentine will write later." Signed Harry Evinger. President Manuel Camacho of Mexico is himself an enthusiastic and good player, his invitation to the polo playing Latin-American Countries to participate in a tournament to which the United States was also invited is a good-neighbourly gesture that is both sporting and timely.

Canal Command

The Chronicle has known for some time that the defense of the Caribbean was commanded by a Good Cavalryman, but until this information was made public, nothing was said. Lieut.-General F. M. Andrews, U. S. Air Corps, was a Cavalryman, good polo player and a horseman of ability. He commands the defenses to the Panama Canal. With Mrs. Andrews playing No. 1, the late Major H. J. Week and Lieut. Sumner, F. A., General Andrews (then Lieut.-Col. had a fighting polo team during the occupation of the Rhine, in the last World War.

Colonel Norman Fiske

On duty with the office of Attache, for at least the past five years, Colonel Norman E. Fiske U. S. A. Cavalry is about to return to the States after being interned in Italy since the commencement of the War. His name is included in the Diplomatic Swap. Colonel Fiske is well known in Army and civilian horse circles and is a fine horseman. The attache in Rome was a Cavalryman's duty. Colonel Dunn many years ago was instrumental in organizing the hunt in the outskirts of the ancient city and since then it has become the meeting place of the officers attending the Mounted Schools of Tor Di Quinto and Pinero. Riding to hounds had a real place in the lives of these mounted service men of Italy. Colonel Fiske was therefore in his element.

Chester, Vermont

Word comes from Ed Vail of Chester, Vermont that Captain T. P. Marsman is again at The Fullerton Inn with his stable of excellent dressage, jumping and trail horses. The way in which this horse colony conducts its horse activities is bound to find many supporters and anyone who visits there will come away with something learned of things to do with and ways to handle good horses in action. The paddock is a real Mecca of horse sports at their best.

Speaking Of Driving

"In my opinion, a riding instructor who teaches his pupils to drive will turn out much better riders, because driving really does more to develop 'light hands' than anything or any exercise I can imagine. Driving a single horse is perfect practice. A pair is even better and offers the more advanced pupil a larger field in which to study horses' mouths; for instance, working with a light mouth and a tough mouth together. There could be no training like this for 'hands' in any other field. When a pupil is even further advanced and has the opportunity to learn to drive 4, he has a real opportunity to develop 'hands'. Driving has been classed as a lost art, and in fact even worthless to the younger generation of horsemen. This is a great mistake, and I hope that driving as a war necessity will bring out this fact to more of our riders."—So speaks Frank J. Carroll, well known horsemanship instructor of Scarsdale, N. Y.

Lexington Carries On

W. J. Harris, Mgr., of the Lexington Junior League Horse Show, July 15-18, advises that the show will go on this year, with $11,000 in prize money. Most of this is for a card of 3 and 5-yaltes, fine harness, hackney ponies, etc., but there will be hunter and jumper divisions as well. "It is America's greatest outdoor horse show in the home of the American Saddle and show horse."

Devon Judges

Hunter judges for the Devon Horse Show and Country Fair, to be held May 25-30 up in the well known show grounds near Philadelphia, will be Col. Sloan Doak, of Ruxton, Md., and Roger R. Rinehart, of Charlottesville. The hunter breeding judges will be Edward M. Cheston, of Ambler, Pa., and Dr. Benjamin Price, of West Chester, Pa.

Glad Not On Flat

Jockeys Eddie Acaro and Berg had recent occasion to work mounts with the well known 'chasing Jockey Jack Magee. In conversation Acaro and Berg, impressed with this well known jumping rider's ability, (he is the contract rider for James E. Ryan's string), agreed in unison: "I'm glad he's not riding on the flat".

Jacket To Stud

Montpelier's Jacket, good 'chasing winner daughter of Imp. Blenheim II—Imp. Little Muff, is retired to stud. Following her steeplechase win on Saturday, Preakness Day, she was returned to Mrs. Marion du Pont, Scott's Montpelier farm, where she will be put to brood matron duties. William G. "Billy" Jones was the successful trainer of this fleet flop-eared filly. Her flop-ears are hereditary, coming from her dam Imp. Little Muff, a Sardanapale mare, dam of the 3-mile record holder, Farragut, also a good winner over fences. Farragut is by Annapolis.

Parade Of Carriages

Frank J. Carroll of the Carroll School of Horsemanship, Scarsdale, N. Y., and several of his driving pupils took part in a right smart "Parade of Carriage Elegance" which featured the celebration to launch the War Bond Drive at Belmont Park Race Track, on Monday, May 11.

Since gasoline and tire rationing are making people particularly "carriage-conscious" nowadays, this procession of fine horse-drawn vehicles had a timely news interest. Mr. Carroll lent carts and teams for the occasion, drove his black-and-red four-wheeled brewster dog cart. His big gunning rig, which carries 5 and the driver, was driven by William Steinkraus, of Westport, Conn. He is one of the only two youngsters in the history of the show ever to take both the Maclay and Good Hands trophies in a single season. Both double-winners were pupils of the Carroll School of Horsemanship.

Publicist Elser

Publicist Maximilian Elser, of the National Horse Show Assn., is now a major in the United States Army.

Captain Strawbridge

George Strawbridge, Jr., gentleman rider owner of Bungtown, was recently promoted to captain. He is with Colonel E. M. "Danny" Daniels, chief of the United States Remount. Colonel Daniels was an honorary steward of the Radnor Hunt Chesterbrook Farms meeting last Saturday, May 9, along with Edward F. Beale, and Colonel Rex Benson. Edward M. Cheston, presided for the National Steeplechase and Hunt Assn., and other stewards were: Amory L. Haskell, M. F. H., Lewis E. Waring and John Strawbridge.

Spa Course Committee

The committee which is undertaking a program to improve the infield 'chasing course of The Saratoga Assn.'s track went to the Spa last Sunday, May 10, to inspect work now underway. Mrs. Marion du Pont Scott, Fred Parks, secy., of the National Steeplechase and Hunt Assn., and others made the trip.

Breaks Hip Roller-Skating

R. R. M. Carpenter, of Wilmington, Del., well known proprietor of the former Dilwyne Stable, which stable showed so successfully King Vulture, Holystone and others in its day, recently came a cropper while roller-skating. The X-rays disclosed a broken hip and a fractured wrist.

Line of The Week

Murray Tynan, writing in the New York Herald Tribune last Sunday, of The Preakness, typed off the line of the week, perhaps in many weeks, when he wrote of Sarge Swenke, hero of the last war and trainer of the phenomenal Alsab. Continued on Page Twenty

20th Allegheny Folds

The executive committee, of which William C. Robinson, Jr., is chairman, has advised: "Due to war conditions and the restrictions on the use of rubber and gasoline, the 20th annual Allegheny Country Club Horse Show will not be held on June 4-6". This show battled the hardships of distance and inaccessibility for the Atlantic coast exhibitors for years—then came the Pennsylvania Turnpike and the 1941 fixture was a great success. Members of the executive committee included H. C. Bughman, Jr., (current M. F. H., of Rolling Rock Hunt), J. O. Burgwin, W. Heber Dithrich, J. O. Flower, T. McKee Graham, Maj. Richard K. Mellon, John C. Neale and William P. Snyder, Jr. It is to be hoped that these men will back the interest and activities of local shows in this area, that sport will go on and their good fixture may be renewed another year.

Drivers And Riders Subject To Motor Regulations

Bicycle riders are subject to the regulations, responsibilities and privileges of motor vehicle drivers, Colonel M. S. Battle, director of the Division of Motor Vehicles, said today as he announced that cyclists must observe the same traffic laws that govern motor vehicles.

Under Section 51 of the Motor Vehicle Code, the director said, the law states: "Every person riding a bicycle or an animal upon a roadway and every person driving any animal shall be subject to the provisions of this chapter applicable to the driver of a vehicle."

"Bicycle riders must observe the laws pertaining to motor vehicles and not those pertaining to pedestrians," the director pointed out. "Cyclists must ride on the right-hand side of the road because then their movement in traffic, particularly at intersections, is more natural and less confusing to motor vehicle drivers."

"It is possible for a motorist to adjust his speed to that of the bicycle and wait for a safe time to pass if they are moving in the same direction. By so doing, the cyclist is not forced to get off the paved section of the road which may sometimes be prevented by the presence of a guard rail or other obstacles."

Colonel Battle said bicycle traffic in Virginia is increasing daily. Last year there were 34 persons killed in bicycles-motor vehicle accidents and 365 injured. Twenty-six of the 34 fatal accidents occurred in rural areas. In 1940 there were 9 persons killed in bicycle accidents and 342 injured.

Six suggestions for bicyclists were listed by Colonel Battle. They are:

(1) Ride on the right-hand side of the highway and observe all traffic lights and signs.

Hunter, Jumper And Junior Divisions In Deep Run Show

Prize lists for the Deep Run Hunt Club horse show to be held at Richmond, Va., on Saturday and Sunday, May 30 and 31, have been mailed. There will be 42 classes in hunter, jumper and junior divisions.

Plenty of opportunity is given for both green and qualified horses. For the former there are novice hunters, green hunters, hunter hacks, suitable to become hunters, and several kindred classes. For the more experienced group, the hunter stake, lightweight hunters, middle-and-heavyweight hunters, half-bred hunters, Thoroughbred hunters, handy hunters, ladies' hunters and working hunters are provided.

Red Cross Benefit In Briar Patch

Mrs. R. W. Mitchell, on her farm, The Briar Patch, Hilton Village, Va., reports that a show will be held Sunday, May 24, beginning at 9 o'clock a. m. There will be 32 breeding, equitation, hunter and saddle classes, and War Savings stamps and bonds will be given as prizes.

The entire proceeds of the show will go to the Red Cross. A 2-year-old half bred heavy hunter type filly (Killer—Patsy) will be raffled off and chances may be obtained from Miss Betty Hassell, Secretary, The Briar Patch, Hilton Village, Va.

APRIL

Pack away your old scarlet in camphor,
And wrap up your scarred hunting cap.
Hang the horn from its strap on the mantel,
And prepare for a long summer's nap.

In the marshes the peepers are piping,
In the tree-tops the loud grackles squall;
So put your string gloves in the dresser,
You won't need them now 'til the Fall.

Soon the hunters will graze in the pasture,
The foxhounds will sleep in the shade;
So admit that the season is over,
You must call a spade a spade!

In her earth 'neath the white oak the vixen,
Is nursing five cubs at her side,
While low in the meadow the dog fox,
Is stalking fieldmice for his bride.

But slowly and surely the summer,
Like summers before it will pass,
And the corn yet unplanted will flourish
To furnish them cover at last.

Oh yes, there'll be Point-to-Point meetings,
And the days at the old Horse Show grounds,
But I'd trade you the whole kit and boodle,
For even a poor day with hounds.

So let's sleep 'till some morn in September,
We'll again put our lips to the horn,
As the deep-throated voice of old Dashwood,
Proclaims a new season is born!

GILBERT MATHER.

(2) Give hand signals for each turn.

(3) Ride with a white front light and a red rear light or an approved reflector at night.

(4) Avoid weaving in traffic. Ride in a straight line at all times.

(5) When in groups on the highway, ride in single file.

(6) Avoid traffic congestions and if you get in one, walk with bicycle until you think it is safe to ride again.

"Bicycle riders, like pedestrians, have a contributory responsibility for their own safety on the highways," the director said. "They must depend upon their own judgment in cases in which their safety is involved rather than upon that of the motor vehicle driver."
